OPEN ANGLO-JAP BREAK NEAR

Obtains Confession In Officer's Death

See Severance Of Relations Over Arrests

Nine Japanese Held in Various Parts Of British Empire; Ambassador to Britain Expected to Confer With Halifax Again

BULLETIN

LONDON—(AP)—A Japanese embassy spokesman declared today that the embassy considered unsatisfactory Britain's explanation of the arrest of two prominent Japanese business men in London.

(By International News Service)

LONDON—The situation arising from arrests of Japanese subjects in the British empire "looks rather bad," a Japanese spokesman declared officially today.

Contrary to expectations, Japanese Ambassador Marmoru Shigemitsu did not request another audience with Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax today. His spokesman, however, said he was inclined to "deplore" the turn of events as demonstrated by additional Japanese arrests.

Lord Halifax, it was said, previously expressed gratitude to the Nipponese envoy for his efforts to alleviate the situation by securing release of some of the British citizens arrested in Tokyo and attempting to improve Anglo-Japanese relations generally.

It is now felt that arrests of Japanese citizens have placed all the cards in the hands of extremists in Tokyo, making diplomatic negotiations extremely difficult

New arrests today brought the total number of Japanese held in various parts of the British empire to nine.

In addition to four Japanese held in London, it was disclosed five other Japanese are now in custody—one in Hong Kong, one in Singapore and three in Rangoon.

Both Britain and Japan appeared loath to take any concrete measures in the crisis and the situation was authoritatively described in London as "obscure."

Japanese Ambassador Marmoru Shigemitsu was expected to call on Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax this afternoon to seek further information and possibly to make more formal representations than those of Saturday.

It is expected that the situation may be sufficiently clarified by tomorrow to enable a statement in the house of commons, but British officials refrained from any forecast beyond expressing the hope the problem may be settled amicably.

Nevertheless, the intransigeant attitude of the Tokyo press is being noted and important conferences among Japanese government officials being watched for straws in the wind.

Japan Threatens Drastic Measures

TOKYO —(INS)— Outright severance of diplomatic relations with Great Britain unless the official attitude toward arrest of Japanese nationals shows more "sincerity" was threatened today by Japan.

PROSECUTOR AT BUCYRUS GIVEN ATTACK STORY

Says Truck Driver Admits He Bore Grudge Against Veteran Officer.

NO CHARGE FILED YET

Coroner Says Policeman Died of Brain Concussion From Blow on Head.

BUCYRUS—Prosecutor Leo J. Scanlon of Crawford county said today he had obtained a full confession from John E. Smith, 26, Galion truck driver, who allegedly slugged Clarence H. Upson, 71, veteran Galion patrolman, Saturday noon, causing the officer's death a few minutes later.

On the basis of the confession, the prosecutor said he probably would file a murder charge against Smith this afternoon or tomorrow morning. Scanlon said he would not decide whether to charge the truck driver with first or second degree murder until he has completed his investigation.

Smith admitted striking Officer Upson with his fist "because he (Upson) interfered with me all the time," Scanlon said.

The prosecutor added he had learned that Smith had struck at Upson several weeks ago when the officer arrested him for intoxication and that Smith admitted "holding a grudge" against the veteran patrolman

Scanlon quoted Smith as saying that he was not intoxicated when he struck the patrolman and he remembered everything that happened.

Smith has repeatedly said "I'm sorry I hit him" since the truck driver was taken into custody, the prosecutor added.

Funeral services for Upson, who was to have retired soon from police duty, will be held at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday at the Volk funeral home in Galion. Rev. W. N. Robertson of the First Methodist church and Rev. H. K. Freeman, pastor of the First Baptist church, will officiate. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery, Galion.

KNOWN HERE

Flier Killed in Crash Was In Mansfield Last Month.

Dwight W. Brill, 48, of Zionsville, Ind., captain in the reserve officers corps, who was killed Saturday when his army training plane crashed and burned near Indianapolis, was well known to several Mansfielders.

Brill, district manager for the Indiana Gas company, an affiliate of the Ohio Fuel Gas company recently visited Mansfield, attending a managers' meeting held by the gas company here July 25 and 26.

William C. Mead, district manager of the Ohio Fuel Gas company here said that Brill had been with the company for several years.

Municipal airport attaches recalled that Capt. Brill flew to Mansfield to attend the meeting and that the ill-fated training ship, a BT-9 monoplane was service here during his two-day stay here.

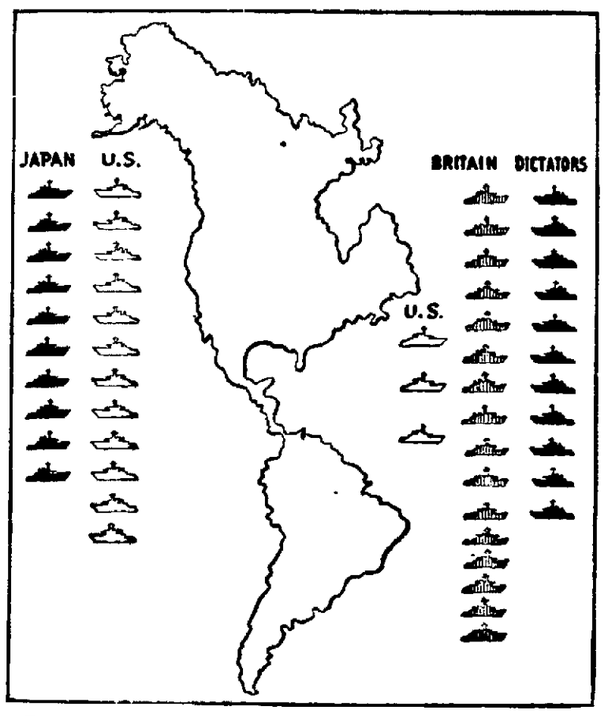
Famous Figures Differ On How U. S. Can Best Defend Self



Two nationally-known figures took opposite sides of the current debate over the stand of the United States in its effort to build up its defenses. At the left, Col. Charles Lindbergh, who advocates remaining aloof from the European conflict while rearming fully for our own defense. At the right, Gen. John J Pershing called for all possible aid to Britain, recommended that we send her 50 destroyers from the 162 decommissioned after the World war Center, a chart shows our present Pacific and Atlantic naval strength, together with that of Japan, Britain and the dictator powers. Pershing holds that the British fleet is our own first line of defense and that this country would be in grave danger if the British fleet should fall to the Germans A committee urging all possible aid for Britain has also recommended sending destroyers to Britain.

STATE LEGION CHIEF URGES 'TOTAL DRAFT'

Tells Akron Post He Favors Universal Conscription to Build Up Defense.

A "total draft" of manpower industry and capital was advocated by R. B Gardner, state commander of the American Legion, in a talk to members of Post 209 of the American Legion at Akron yesterday.

Speaking "as a Legionnaire," Gardner emphasized that he could not speak for the Ohio department, but said he believed that the state Legion should go on record officially adopting universal conscription during its annual convention in Toledo Aug. 23-25.

Recalling World war unpreparedness, Gardner asserted that the Legion's mandate of 1920 clearly defined the course to be followed. He said however, that it was entirely up to the veterans to decide what stand they would take when they gather in Toledo.

He added that "universal service for industry, capital and manpower" had been one of the Legion's major projects since 1920 in which it advocated "universal service for all and special privileges and special profits for none."

Gardner told the members attending the installation of a new class of candidates that Russia has been able to checkmate Hitler because Stalin could produce "brute strength" and that the German leader "recognized only the strength of force."

Six Giant Army Bombers Put on Show Over City

There were no air raid sirens this morning to signal the appearance over Mansfield of a fleet of giant army bombers.

In sharp contrast with Europe these days Mansfielders instead of rushing for shelter gazed with awe at six huge ships as they cavorted over the city for nearly 30 minutes.

The four-motored "flying fortresses" which appeared shortly after 8:30 a. m. and disappeared over the northwestern horizon at 9 a. m., were on tactical maneuvers from Langley field, Va., the army's bombardment base, it was learned.

It is believed the planes were among 160 maneuvering today along Michigan's east coast and over northwestern Ohio when Detroit "escaped bombardment" by 13 minutes as speedy pursuit ships took off from Selfridge field to intercept bombers from Mitchell Field, New York, and Langley Field, Virginia

More than 400 officers and 700 men, accompanied by Brig. Gen Arnold G. Krogstad, are participating in the maneuvers, which will continue four days.

Leaders Argue Over British Help, Draft

Pershing Urges 50 Destroyers Be Made Available to Britain; Lindbergh Wants Treaty With War Winner

(By Associated Press)

Arguments over conscription and aid to Great Britain underlay a wide variety of appeals for American defense heard across the continent Sunday.

Gen. John J. Pershing, speaking from Washington, proposed to a radio audience that the United States make available at least 50 World war destroyers to help England.

"If the destroyers help save the British fleet," he said, "they may save us from the danger and hardship of another war."

"If there is anything we can do to help save the British fleet during that time, we shall be failing in our duty to America if we do not do it."

The general said he saw "grave danger" for the United States in the present world situation, and blamed disasters in seven of eight nations on "appeasers who would not take the danger seriously, who would not prepare while there was still time."

In Chicago, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh spoke at a peace rally, where he called for American cooperation with Europe, advocating at the same time noninterference in Europe's internal affairs.

"Whether England or Germany wins this war," he said, "western civilization will still depend upon two great centers, one in each hemisphere. With all the aids of modern science, neither of these centers is in a position to attack the other successfully as long as

CHANGES PLAN

Bates Opens Bike Tag Sale to All Riders in City.

With fewer than 100 bicycle licenses issued during the two-day sale last week, Police Chief Meade K. Bates today issued a general call for bicycle owners to make application at police headquarters.

Bates, abandoning the district idea of distribution, said tags would be issued Wednesday and Thursday to all owners calling at police headquarters.

The licenses went on sale last Friday and Saturday to bicycle owners of the Carpenter school district. A check of the sale today showed that 79 tags had been issued.

Bates warned children to check safety equipment, including brake and horn, required by provisions of the new ordinance, before bringing bicycles in for inspection.

The tags sell for 25 cents.

Derby Drivers Wait Verdict As Inspectors Check Racers

Youthful Mansfield race drivers anxiously waited today to see if their streamlined coasters will pass the test for the fourth annual Mansfield Soap Box Derby to be held four miles east of Mansfield on the new brick road on U. S. Route 42 at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Determined to build cars that will lead them to victory, the lads made last minute adjustments before the Derby officials, headed by Don D. Cram, Derby director, inspected the autos at 2 p. m. today.

The Mansfield classic, sponsored by The News-Journal, Mohican Chevrolet and Mansfield Y. M. C. A. is expected to be the biggest ever held in Mansfield and Cram is preparing for handle a record crowd.

Boys took their machines to the Mohican Chevrolet today where Earl Wiener, a vocational director at Mansfield Senior high, will give them a thorough inspection this afternoon.

A representative of the Toledo Scales company will be on hand with a new scales to take charge of the "weighing-in" of cars and

COUNCIL DUE TO VOTE TRIAL FOR PARKING METERS

Measure Comes Up for Vote at Session Tomorrow, Approval of Test Installation Due.

The highly controversial issue of parking meters to alleviate Mansfield's traffic congestion will be settled tomorrow night when city council votes on pending legislation authorizing the installation of the machines on a trial basis.

Indications today were that the measure, authorizing Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton to establish meter zones and supervise the installation of the machines, would be approved.

The bill, similar to a measure shelved after two readings a year ago, has been given two readings and will come up for final vote

It was the consensus of councilmen today that the meters should be installed on a trial basis as a means of eliminating the greater part of downtown traffic congestion caused by overtime parkers.

As one legislator put it: "We have tried everything else. I don't see why we can't experiment with the machines."

In addition it is expected that council's finance committee will recommend the submission of a one-mill levy to the voters at the November election to finance expanded operations of five city departments

SENATE TAKES UP ACTION ON GUARD SERVICE

Military Committee Seeking Final Decision on Draft Measure.

PASSAGE PREDICTED

Senator Burke Sees No More Than 20 Votes Against Conscription.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Asserting he is convinced that Hitler plans to attack the United States, Sen. Sheppard (D., Tex.), chairman of the senate military affairs committee, today urged the senate to give President Roosevelt immediate authority to mobilize the national guard.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Overriding a demand for further consideration, the senate military affairs committee today approved by a vote of 12 to 3 President Roosevelt's military conscription bill, making 12,000,000 men between the ages of 21 to 31 liable to a year's military training.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Amid undiminished argument over conscription, the senate got down to business today on a related issue—presidential authority to call the national guard into active training.

Before that administration bill was brought to the chamber at noon, however, the senate military committee sought a final decision on recommending the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory service program.

The two measures were closely intertwined in the controversy over manpower which had spread over capitol hill during the last month.

Opponents of conscription talked of trying to amend the national guard bill to provide a system of voluntary one-year enlistments in the army. This, they contended, would be an effective substitute for compulsory training.

Basically, though, few objections were voiced in advance to empowering the president to order out the guard and the officers' reserve corps for a year's intensive drill. Senator McNary of Oregon, the Republican leader, predicted that

ALERT: England Kept Awake To Danger By Nazi Activity

BULLETIN

LONDON—(INS)—Great Britain now is "running neck and neck" with Germany in aircraft production, authoritative sources said today they had reason to believe.

LONDON—Increasing Nazi activity at French channel ports, reported by British bombers returning from raids deep into Germany, kept England on the alert today as tides and weather combined to offer Adolf Hitler more favorable conditions for his long-promised blitzkrieg.

Authoritative sources indicated the Royal Air Force, attempting to smash any invasion before it could be launched, was hurling more and more planes into nightly attacks on German industrial centers, troop concentrations and channel bases.

The air ministry reported, meanwhile three Messerschmitt fighters were shot down this morning as Spitfire pilots continued to carry the war into the Nazi camp.

The British reported the loss of one plane.

Some 20 German planes were engaged in the scrap in this side of the channel, in which one Nazi craft was downed. The British pilots said that within four minutes they had cleared the skies of Germans.

"Germany is out for a bigger headache than she has yet suffered," one spokesman predicted grimly.

The government, meanwhile, moved to strengthen Britain's defenses by placing the home guard—now 1,500,000 strong—under new leadership, replacing with younger

STRONG: Italian Forces In Africa Fight Aerial Battle

BULLETIN

CAIRO—(INS)—A dog fight between a swarm of Italian fighters and four British bombers ended in disaster for three of the Fascist planes, an official communique reported today.

CAIRO, Egypt—(UP)—Italian forces in great strength were reported concentrating on the desert frontier today after British and Italian planes fought the biggest aerial battle of war in Africa

The Italian concentrations which British sources believed were preparing for an offensive were reported on the Egyptian-Libyan frontier in the Bir El Gobi sector, not far from the Mediterranean coast

Six Italian airplanes were shot down in two air battles over the western desert area of Egypt, facing Italian Libya.

(In Rome, a communique reported that ten British planes had been shot down in a furious battle with Italian aircraft after the British attempted to attack a marching column of Italians on the Libyan border. Four other British planes—making a total of 14—were reported shot down Unintensified warfare on most African fronts, including the Sudan, was reported in Rome dispatches, which quoted the Fascist press as saying that a big Italian drive was near against the rich British Kenya colony in East Africa Italian forces previously had penetrated about 30 miles into Kenya.)

Fifty Italian fighting planes were said to have attacked one

Modern Attitude At Fault

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Six weeks ago a worried mother of three daughters wrote to this column, saying that she was not opposed to modern antics on the part of the young. Her plaint was that it didn't seem to get them anywhere, as the more conservative behavior of her day did.

The lady advised me to turn over the leaves in any old family album and see how these not-so-beautiful girls invariably landed their men. I took her advice and studied the pictures of the Cousin Jennies and Aunt Marias. None of these had ever heard of a beauty parlor; yet they got their man and presumably lived happily ever after.

My correspondent didn't object to her girls being ultra-modern. They all smoked like chimneys, were connoisseurs in the latest cocktails, rhumbaed, jitter-bugged, patronized roadhouses, and even, for a lark, took in the dime-a-dance hangouts.

These girls had loads of dates, but no proposals of marriage! Like the princesses in the fairy tale who each wore out a pair of dancing slippers every night, their dogged restlessness got these three lovelies nowhere. And mamma, bolstered by the fate of those homely Victorians in the family album, began to sit up and worry.

Why, she pondered, did damsels like Cousin Jenny and Aunt Maria make good matches, have huge life insurance policies taken out in their interests and secure husbands who slaved for them? Two of her girls who had excellent jobs, wrote my correspondent, offered to keep on with them if the most likely of their suitors only said "the hard word," as the romantic Irish say. They got no takers.

The mother's letter to me was highly amusing She said:

"Sowing wild oats reaps no orange blosoms Wouldn't it be a good thing if my daughters, and the daughters of other women, going high, wide and handsome, dropped back into some of the old-fashioned amusements of my generation, when a girl's idea of freedom was not a foot on the brass rail.

"My girls haven't married, unsuccessfully or otherwise. Why don't we go back to some of the simple amusements that made for domesticity when the world was a happier place?" The lady suggested all sorts of out-of-door sports—campfire parties, bacon bats, chop parties, even roof parties.

So your columnist went into a long-distance huddle with the mother of the three beautiful daughters. We exchanged several letters and she gave me some details of these parties of her youth We've discussed this in the Beatrice Fairfax column, and I've answered a good many letters telling how to "throw" these oldfashioned parties.

The requests for them have been so overwhelming that I've had mimeographed copies made, and will be glad to send them to anyone writing me, enclosing a self-addressed, three-cent stamped envelope.

Please remember—a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope if you want to know how Cousin Jane, Aunt Belle or Grandma made the grade up the middle aisle to the altar; while the organist burst into Lohengrin. Just "write to Beatrice Fairfax."

Unusual Way to Serve Meats

By BETSY NEWMAN

MEN LIKE meat, whether the weather be hot or cold. Hot roast beef, even on a sizzling day, is a treat, and especially so when you serve deviled mushrooms with it. You may use fresh mushrooms in place of canned if you wish.

Today's Menu.

Roast Beef
Potatoes Roasted with Meat
Deviled Mushrooms
Mixed Vegetable Salad
Apricot Pie Coffee

Deviled Mushrooms.

1 8-oz. can sliced mushrooms or its equivalent in fresh mushrooms
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
Pinch cayenne
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 tablespoon vinegar
½ tablespoon sugar.

Brown mushrooms in butter, add liquid from can if you use canned mushrooms, then add Worcestershire sauce, and other ingredients, simmer until liquor is almost absorbed, and serve hot with the roast. If you use fresh mushrooms, add ½ cup water to mushrooms after they are browned and before seasonings are added.

Fresh Apricot Pie.

Pie crust
Fresh apricots
¾ cup sugar
1 tablespoon granulated tapioca
1 tablespoon butter.

Line pie pan with unbaked crust and fill with apricots, washed and pitted but not peeled. Add sugar mixed with tapioca and the butter. Add top crust and bake in 425 degree Fahrenheit oven until juice bubbles up through the top and the crust is brown.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

AFTER A PRE-EMPTIVE

When you hold a powerful hand opposite your partner's original bid of four in a major or five in a minor suit, you have to put on your thinking cap. Have you a thoroughly sound partner, who would not make a pre-emptive bid except on a hand which is worthless defensively? Or is he a player who might do it on a hand which is quite good generally? Your own course of action should be governed very largely by the answer to such a query.

The most meticulously careful player has learned that a pre-emptive bid does not pay ordinarily on a hand like either of the following:

A. ♠ A K J 9 8 6 4
♥ 7 5
♦ Q 6 3
♣ 8

B. ♠ A 10 8 7 5 4 3 2
♥ 6
♦ Q 6
♣ 7 4

Either of those hands usually would produce at least on trick on defense against the opponents' suit contract, because of the possession of the ace. The idea of a pre-empt is to tell your partner you are so weak that the defense would fall entirely on him, and at the same time crowd the opponents so badly that their probably much stronger side will not manage to bid game in the best declaration. The following hands are better adapted to such an opening shut-out bid:

C. ♠ K Q J 8 6 5 4 2
♥ 5
♦ 6 2
♣ 10 7

D. ♠ Q 10 9 8 7 5 4 3 2
♥ 6
♦ 8
♣ J 5

If your partner might preempt with a hand like A or B, you don't know what to do with a strong hand opposite him But if he never does it except with one like C or D, you can respond intelligently. Now you know his hand lacks any ace, that it is worthless except in his suit, that he is probably down two if vulnerable, three if not vulnerable, unless you furnish some tricks, and that he is trying chiefly to shut out one or both majors. So, if he bid 4-Spades, not vulnerable, against vulnerable opponents, and you hold one of these hands:

1. ♠ A K 6
♥ A 8 5 2
♦ K Q 7
♣ A 5 3

2. ♠ A K 6
♥ 8 5 4 2
♦ A K 4
♣ A 5 3

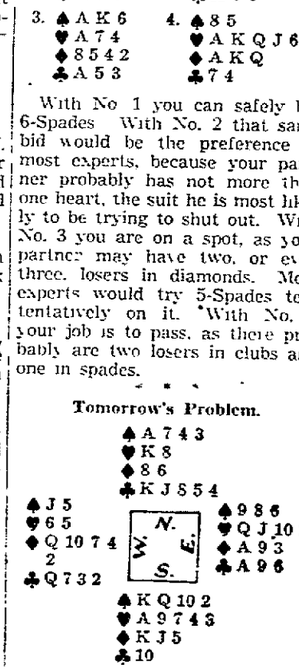
3. ♠ A K 6
♥ A 7 4
♦ 8 5 4 2
♣ A 5 3

4. ♠ 8 5
♥ A K Q J 6 2
♦ A K Q
♣ 7 4

With No 1 you can safely bid 6-Spades With No. 2 that same bid would be the preference of most experts, because your partner probably has not more than one heart, the suit he is most likely to be trying to shut out. With No. 3 you are on a spot, as your partner may have two, or even three, losers in diamonds. Most experts would try 5-Spades tentatively on it. With No. 4 your job is to pass, as there probably are two losers in clubs and one in spades.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer, South. Both sides vulnerable.)

Why should both North and South insist on a 4-Spade contract for this hand, after the four-card suit fit has been disclosed, in preference to 3-No Trumps?

Marriage Meddlers

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

Lillian Looked up at my father with twinkling eyes.

"I mean exactly what I said," she replied "There are women in this house who could be used in defense work. They can sleep in the library with the others if they get a chance to sleep but they should not be compelled to stay there"

"Of course I realize that you wish to exempt Margaret and yourself from the roster of the non-combatants,' he said slowly, "and I can understand your very natural desire to witness our final triumph over Leslie's gang. But—I cannot permit you to leave the quarters downstairs which you will provide for the children and for the other women in the house You will be needed there to guard them, for I can detail only one man for the protection of those rooms. There will be plenty for you to do, and I should advise that you keep your silencer pistols always in readiness But I must reiterate most emphatically that neither of you is to come outside those rooms unless by my permission."

He walked to the door and with his hand upon it, bowed in courtly fashion.

"I leave all details in your hands," he said. "But let me emphasize again that everybody in the house must be notified at once that from this minute on we must consider ourselves in a state of siege although the blow may not fall for one, two or even three days to come"

He bowed us out, and when he had closed the door after us, Lillian swung me around facing her.

"How does it feel to be set back on your heels with a jar that telescopes your head neck and spine?" she asked with a gamin grin.

"I don't like it," I said with decision "Dicky and Harry are going to be out there in the thick of things, in grave danger, and we're not going to be able to be near them, either to help as we've proved we can, or at least to share their danger. But I suppose there's nothing to do but submit."

"Don't be too sure about that," she said, but when I looked at her with a tense "what do you mean?" she patted my shoulder, and smiled enigmatically at me.

"I don't know myself—yet—" she said "But I'm rising to remark now, that if they—of course Harry and Dicky are in on this—think they're going to coop us up doing cross word puzzles while Rome burns, they have several more thinklets coming Give me a little time. I'll work this thing out. But suppose we go downstairs now to the library and 'enter into the silence' for a while until we get our bearings. It's going to take some planning to fit all our temperamental bunch into these rooms"

I silently agreed with her—I was too dispirted to speak—as we went down the stairs to the lower floor Once inside the library, she closed the door, and sitting down in one chair, at the extreme end of the room motioned me to another opposite her

"Lucky this room is so big" she said, "and its windows are already barred, as are those of your study And those two alcoves might have been made to order."

She gazed at the room with calculating eyes, for several seconds, and then turned to me.

"I think I have it, subject to your approval," she said. "The only thing that bothers me is what in the hinges of the hot place we're going to do with Ede."

Don't Force Girl Back To College

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS Ph. D.

A mother writes of her daughter, 21, who graduated from a girl's two-year college. "Last year she worked as secretary in an office near home. This year she entered ——— college, co-educational.

"She has always been an excellent student . . . valedictorian of her high school class. She won several awards at the two-year college, including piano, and tennis championship.

"She does not like it at——— at all and does not wish to complete her college work. She is majoring in Business Administration. She wants to enter a good business school next year and finish her work there

"I'm opposed to it. Since she has had three years of college, do you not think it would be to her interest if she finished and received her degree instead of jumping into business? She has a B-plus average.

Has Become a Cynic.

She's home on vacation now. Saturday she had a spell—cried and said she never hated any place as she does this school.

"She says she has never had a date and is tired of watching so many other girls dating and having a good time There, I feel is the whole trouble.

"She is so genuine, kind and sincere—but of late has taken on a sort of cynical, sarcastic attitude

"I do want to know whether you think we would do more harm than good by insisting that she return to college next year to complete the work and receive her degree. A self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed."

How I answered her.

"It is hard for you and me to see that it would not be wise for your daughter to return to college and earn her college degree. But you and I don't have that daughter's head and heart. Her ambition is to be well prepared for business

Let Her Decide.

"Back of that it is to meet and win some boy friends. Nothing else means so much to her. She feels the door is closed to her at that college and it probably is.

"I certainly think you might do a thousand times more harm than good in urging her to go back to college. Anyway this girl is pretty well grown up. Why should you choose to dictate her procedure in such matters? Let me entreat you to tell her you are sorry you have made her so unhappy and ask her forgiveness. From now on encourage her in her business college plan. Do more. Find ways to bring her in touch with more young men. Conspire with her to make home dates. If you have already prevailed upon her to return to that college, then contrive with some of the faculty members there to conspire in turn with some of the student leaders to help this daughter have dates at college.

"I still have on hand copies of a selected list of books about college, choosing a college, life at college and succeeding at college, to be had by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York City, N. Y. enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope; also a list of books on choosing a life's work—vocations."

Many Woes Started Early In Life

By MME. QUI VIVE

Every wise mother will take little daughter by the hand, lead her along the beauty road Good appearance means much in life, and one must start early to attain it. Many a woman suffers from defects of one kind or another that are the result of maternal neglect. Weak ankles, for instance, that can be corrected by medical attention and proper shoes. Skin blemishes that might have been removed, and become more distressing with the years, like certain types of birth mark. Hair that wasn't brushed and kept clean, thus inviting scalp troubles that prove stubborn.

The care of the teeth in childhood is of extreme importance. Cavaties in the baby teeth should be filled even if the little white pearls are due to moult in a short time No matter how loud may be the protests of the Family Nuisance, teeth should be scrubbed and scoured night and morning Children love sweets, sugar must be removed so that it won't create chemicals that injure the pretty biters.

Poor posture should be looked into. The spinal column should be straight and strong, the little tummy flat, chest full. Weight and measurements should be normal. If they aren't the child must have medical attention

* * *

The finicky eater is in for future trouble Many of these children who won't eat this and turn up noses at that do it because cooking is not excellent, food isn't appetizing or daintily served. The body needs various nourishing elements, will suffer one way or another if it doesn't get them. Milk, a child should have aplenty. A quart a day is not too much. Eating between meals should not be tolerated.

Children who are permitted to go to the movies at night, seeing "skeery" pictures and getting to bed late, are restless sleepers; the nervous system will eventually be affected. Radio program of horror tales are bound to prove depressing.

Spoiled children we have always had with us, but not to the extent we have them now. Overindulged, they become selfish, sassy and overbearing. What about the future for them? Where will they gain strength to face the difficulties life is bound to bring?

* * *

There's no need of being stern and strict; the child must merely recognize authority. Much can be done by loving kindness and consideration, which is not the same as indulgence. Tell a little girl that she is sweet and dear and the chances are she will be that way. We all respond to endearments. There isn't half enough love in the world.

HOROSCOPE

A DAY of excellent promise, with all departments of effort moving toward high goals of fulfillment, through industry, application and supplemented by much innovation, skill and ingenuity. There may be sudden and surprising developments calling for changed plans, objectives and surroundings Since there is a sign of treachery or undercover activities, it might be advisable to exercise vigilance and precaution.

Those whose birthday it is should be assured of a prosperous, progressive and pleasant year, with unlooked for advantages to be developed by industry and sound judgment. Those in high places may be disposed to promote novel propositions showing much ingenuity and skill. But be prepared for changes of plans and surroundings. Also keep a watchful eye on dangers from duplicity, pitfalls and clever strategies. The mentality will be high keyed for invention, research and daring adventures. High ideals are also quickened possibly in the direction of social or humane efforts.

A child born on this day should have excellent creative ability, originality and good judgment, as well as dependability and sound ambitions. It will be extremely intuitive and impressionable.

Moscow residents average one bath in 18 months. Parisians one in four months, and Japanese one every day.

AVIATION NEWS—

50 START WORK ON NEW 72-HOUR FLIGHT COURSE

They'll Meet Twice Weekly, With Top 15 Eligible For Air Training.

By ROBERT E. ROGERS

Fifty Richland county youths, five of them girls, will embark this week on a course of instruction which will give them 72 hours of aviation schooling in classes which will meet twice weekly in connection with the Civil Aeronautics Authority's civilian pilot training in Mansfield

Under a revised schedule of instruction, the youths will go to school only six weeks instead of 12, as had been previously planned, James R. Harrington, U S instructor, has been informed

The course will include classes in civil air regulations, navigation, and meteorology, aircraft engines, theory of flight, parachutes, and radio and are being held preliminary to the selection of 15 top ranking students for flight training this fall.

Classes are expected to be held at Senior high school, Harrington said. He has a petition before the CAA now to conduct the 50 applicants as one class The government advocated classes of not more than 25 students each but that way Harrington would have to spend four nights a week in the classroom

All that is holding up the program right now is government textbooks which have not yet arrived though they have been shipped to Mansfield When they arrive the students will be notified by telephone where and when classes will be held

* * *

And with members of the original class of CPT students piling up solo hours and within a short while ready to come up for their private pilot licenses, Harrington this week will file application with the CAA for advanced training school rating

The application is being made in hopes that the government will establish advanced training for the pilots being turned out with primary training

Of course, the rating hinges on an inspection of the field and there seems to be some question as to whether the port will meet CAA requirements in that there are no lighting facilities for night flying—something that is included in the advanced training course.

And then too Major E H Jose one of the CAA's head men said several weeks ago when he was in Mansfield that the government wouldn't spend any more money here until the city did something about improving the field

* * *

Russell Gledhill, instructor at the port, has been in Columbus the past week attending a "refresher" class conducted there for re-rating instructors He expects to finish up this week and will be back in Mansfield Sunday

* * *

There's a new plane been added to the airport fleet. It's a Rearwin two-place cabin, flown here by Dr L D Bonar and Tommy (Commercial Motor Freight) Jones, from the Kansas City factory

* * *

Robert Tawse who took up flying at the port only a few weeks ago was listed among the solo flyers yesterday when he took his first hop alone Incidentally it's a standing agreement at the field that when a student solos he has to buy cakes around and it cost young Tawse 75 cents

* * *

C R Bullock assistant aeronautical inspector from Cleveland flew in this week for a visit He checked the plans at the port before leaving putting his okay on all of them

* * *

New students added to the increasing number now taking flying instruction included this week William and Ralph Chandler Greenwich, C J Easton and Walter Billotte, boys of Mansfield

STRAW FIRE

Spontaneous combustion was blamed today for a fire which broke out Saturday night in a horse barn at Raemelton farm, just outside the city, destroying several tons of baled straw.

Firemen from carpany No. 1 battled the smouldering blaze for nearly an hour, laying more fire was discovered by the night watchman Firemen said the blaze was confined to the second floor of the barn and little damage was done to the building. Several valuable saddle horses were removed from the building by attendants.

The structure was rebuilt about three years ago following another fire which started in the hayloft and caused several thousand dollars worth of damage

13 JOIN NAVY

Eight of District 'Rookies' Are From Mansfield.

Thirteen young men from the Richland county area, eight of them from Mansfield, have been selected for enlistment in the United States navy, it was announced here today.

They are: Robert Harvey, Charles L. Cutter, Albert Thoma, Raymond Spicer, Paul Huffman, Frank L. Edwards, Gerald A Bean and Clifford Emerick, Mansfield; Robert B. Mark, Charles Resseger and Carl Brownell, Willard, and Philip Hunter and Walter Baker of Shelby. They will be enlisted Aug. 20

The men will be sent to the naval training station, Newport, R. I., for two months' training. After a short leave they will be sent to sea for general detail aboard ship, if they are not selected for one of the navy trade schools. Twenty-four young men from this district were accepted for enlistment.

AUTO LOOTINGS BEING PROBED

Golf Clubs and Spare Wheels Reported Stolen.

Police today were investigating a series of automobile lootings, one of which included the theft of two sets of golf clubs. All occurred near the fairgrounds while the owners were attending the Richland county fair.

C. U. Graf, 411 Sherman place, told police that two sets of golf clubs and a spare tire and wheel was taken from his automobile while parked on Springmill street close to the fairgrounds.

Three car owners reported the loss of spare tires and wheels. They were Ursa Huss, R. D. 3, Mansfield, Nick Weamer, 462 Park avenue west, and Orville Long, 352 South Diamond street.

Believes Panzer Soldiers Given Drug Stimulant

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — Two ways Germany's Panzer divisions ripped through Holland Belgium and France indicates that the Nazi soldiers were given some powerful stimulant which kept them awake and in fighting trim for 48 hours at a stretch, says Dr. Chauncey D Leake, professor of pharmacology at the university of California medical school

These mechanized units, varying sometimes as much as 50 miles an hour, penetrated defenses so fast that supply trains were left far behind and supply lines [illegible] their positions [illegible] closer moving reinforcements could catch up with them

Dr. Leake said physicians with the Panzer units probably administered benzedrine sulphate or some like stimulant to the men.

He described benzedrine sulphate as a powerful nervous forming synthetic drug with a stimulating effect something like coffee

Verbal Blows Open Ohio's Fall Political Campaign

2 CANDIDATES FOR GOVERNOR TOSS PUNCHES

Davey and Bricker Tangled In Dispute Over Road Paving Methods.

(By Associated Press)

Ohio's political candidates shook off mid-summer lethargy and got down to the business of vote-getting in the busiest week-end since the May 14 primary.

Gov. John W. Bricker and his Democratic opponent, former Gov. Martin L. Davey, exchanged long-range blows in speeches at Youngstown and Ashland, respectively, Saturday night, and Davey topped it off Sunday by accusing one of Bricker's cabinet members of soliciting campaign funds from state civil service workers.

In a letter to the governor, Davey charged that George A. Strain, director of industrial relations, called employes of his department to a conference in Columbus in June for an "unscrupulous shakedown" and that the state spent more than $5,000 for their travel expenses.

After the Columbus meeting, Davey continued, the employes were interviewed "one by one" in their division headquarters and told "how much they were supposed to contribute" to Governor Bricker's campaign fund.

Bricker and Strain both called the statement "utterly false."

"State employes will not be forced to contribute money for my campaign," Bricker said. "The best contribution state employes can make will be in doing a good job. If any contributions are made, they will be entirely voluntary."

At Youngstown, Gov. Bricker told 20,000 persons attending a six-county Republican rally that "hot mix" highway surface material costs a third less now than it did during Davey's administration.

He added that "in 1939 we paid $3,000,000 and in 1940 a like amount against the school foundation debt of $17,000,000 inherited from the last administration."

Davey countered at Ashland with the assertion that nearly all of the state's 17,0000 miles of highway were being neglected by the present administration and that "the cement trust has the present highway department by the throat."

"The Bricker administration has gone nutty on building short stretches of terribly expensive pavements," he said, adding that Bricker's firing of experienced workers in the highway department brought "tragic results."

Mayor Harold H. Burton of Cleveland, Republican, and John McSweeney of Wooster, Democrat, opponents for U. S. senator, addressed members of the Ohio Civil War Veterans' association and their guests at Sandusky.

Burton declared modern America should cling to the faith in America shown by the Union veterans in the Civil war, while McSweeney said the longevity of the veterans was an "act of God so we can benefit by their spirit of valor."

Meanwhile in Washington, Rep. Dudley A. White of Norwalk, O., was named director of the speakers' division of the Republican national committee.

Townsend condemned the "New Deal," and threatened to organize "a new party for 1944" if the Republicans "fail in solving current issues."

Women Huddle on Mountain Ledges 8,000 Feet High

GLACIER RANGER STATION, Wash.—(AP)—Two thinly-clad women mountain climbers, one injured in a 40-foot fall huddled on ledges 8,000 feet up fricid Mt. Shuksan today while rescue parties struggled to reach them.

Anne Cedarquist, 22, a chemist at Shelton, Wash., was reported to have broken an arm and several ribs when she slipped from a safety rope and toppled down a rocky slope to a ledge while climbing with Faye Plank, 36, librarian at Bremerton high school, and Carl Boyer, 28, Seattle mail carrier.

Miss Plank was uninjured.

Boyer, who descended the mountain last night to summon help, said Miss Plank became marooned while they were trying to reach Miss Cedarquist.

Mt Baker national forest rangers said temperatures at the 8,000 foot level would be well below freezing during the night.

Dr. Frederick Cook, Arctic Explorer, Dies

WORLD REFUSED TO BELIEVE IN SUCCESS CLAIM

Feted as Discoverer of Pole Then Laughed to Scorn By Colleagues.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y.—(UP)—Dr. Frederick Cook, explorer who claimed to have been the first man to reach the North Pole, died in New Rochelle hospital today.

Cook, who was 75, had suffered a stroke of apoplexy last May 3. He was brought to the hospital July 24 from the home of his friend and colleague, Ralph Shainwald Von Ahlefeldt of Larchmont.

During his long career as explorer, Dr. Cook admitted many failures and claimed only two major successes, both of which his colleagues either refused to accept or accepted only with reluctance.

In 1901 Cook attempted to scale Mount McKinley in Alaska. The attempt failed, but a few years later he tried again, this time claiming success. Other explorers refused to believe him at the time but, according to an associate, Van Ahlefeldt, the claim subsequently was substantiated.

Cook's claim that he reached the North Pole in 1908, however, was contested by Robert E. Peary, and an investigating committee found that Peary was the true discoverer.

Several years ago, however, Cook started libel suits totaling $125,000, against publications which had ridiculed his claims, and some of the suits were still pending when he was stricken with an apoplectic stroke on May 3. Cook was born June 10, 1865, at Callicoon Depot, N. Y., the son of a country doctor. He went to Brooklyn, N. Y., in his teens and worked as a milkman to finance his schooling.

When he was 25, Cook received a medical diploma from New York university, and the next year was appointed ship's surgeon with one of Peary's expeditions to the Arctic.

In 1893, Cook headed his own expedition along the west coast of Greenland. He tried again in 1894 but in neither instance was he able to find a negotiable route to the pole.

In 1909, having gone again to the Arctic, Cook sent a message to the United States announcing that he had discovered the North Pole on April 21, 1908.

Shortly after the Cook message reached America, however, another and similar communication arrived. This one was from Peary, in Indian harbor, Labrador, and, like Cook's, announced that the author had discovered the North Pole.

While Cook kept lecture dates, Peary denounced his claims. Finally a committee was formed to investigate and settle the issue. It reported that Cook's data did not justify his claims.

Expelled from most of his clubs, the doctor disappeared from public view for a while, finally emerging to resume his lecturing, sometimes appearing in vaudeville circuits. At each appearance he asserted he had been robbed of rightful recognition.

Up and Down the Street

The conservation officers are still having their troubles with fishermen who refuse to throw back the little ones at the Charles Mill reservoir. Most of the offenders, officers said, are small boys who want to take home a string of fish whether they are a foot or two inches long. Scores of Mansfielders lined the shores of the lake yesterday and some of them reported "big catches" of catfish, rock bass, and crappies. Most of the catfish were three or four inches long, fishermen reported, or just big enough to eat.

Eddie James, who does the flight scheduling of students at the municipal airport, ran into a little difficulty yesterday which had Instructor James R. (Bud) Harrington really "up in the air." Maybe it was the heat, but anyway James, swamped with trainees seeking instruction, on two occasions had Harrington scheduled to fly students in two different airplanes at the same time.

There's a big difference between a chicken and a young buzzard, Floyd Dent, Mansfield Boy Scout executive, learned yesterday after a tussle with a pugnacious bird at Camp Avery Hand east of Mansfield. Finding the big white bird on the ground, Dent thought it was a chicken and went after it. When he reached for the bird, it attacked him and he realized it was no chicken he was dealing with. Dent overpowered it, however, and C. I. Kimmel, county game warden, identified it. All young buzzards are white, but they turn black as they grow older, he told Dent.

POINTS DANGER ON DOODLE-BUG

Coroner Tells Ohio Utility Commission of Hazards on Gasoline Train.

(By United Press)

AKRON—The Ohio public utilities commission was asked today by Dr. R. E. Amos, Summit county coroner, whether trains such as the "Doodle-Bug," in which 43 persons were killed at Cuyahoga Falls last Wednesday, are not "hazards to the traveling public."

The gasoline-propelled shuttle car collided head-on with a freight train and caught fire.

Dr. Amos said his investigation showed that only nine persons died of their injuries. The other 34, he said, burned to death when the gasoline caught fire.

In his letter to the utilities commission, Dr. Amos asked that the use of gasoline to run trains be investigated.

Dr. Amos said his inquiry would be continued when he can question Conductor Harry B. Shafer and Engineer Thomas L. Murtaugh, who were injured seriously in the wreck. Railroad investigators held them responsible for failure to carry out orders to place the train on a siding.

CAR SALES RUN AHEAD IN COUNTY

They're 55 Per Cent Above Same 7-Month Period of 1939.

Richland county automobile dealers sold 252 new cars in the county last month to boost total sales for the year to 2,046, a gain of 55 per cent over sales for the first seven months of 1939.

Sales last month dropped off slightly from the June figures but they were far ahead of the 151 sales in July last year.

Sixteen new trucks were sold last month as compared to 21 in June and 14 in July, 1939, Deputy County Clerk Norman P. Henry reported.

CINCINNATI WOMAN BITTEN BY SNAKE DURING CHURCH SERVICE

CINCINNATI—(U.P.)—Mrs. Ethel Sheehy, 48, handled a copperhead snake at a service at the True Church of God in Cincinnati Sunday night. She was in serious condition in a hospital today, her right hand and arm swollen from the snake's bite.

Police learned from other members of the church, where snakes have been handled as a part of the religious service, that five others have been bitten by snakes in a month.

The authorities were looking up laws and ordinances to see if they could ban the use of reptiles in religious services.

A police squad visited the church before Mrs. Sheehy was bitten and took one copperhead which was being passed among the members. The police said the members tried to keep them from getting the snake by throwing it from one to another. This was denied, however, by Nelson Fields, a church member. He said he took the snake and offered it to the police himself.

Fields said the officers backed away and he placed it in a box for them. It was taken to the zoo.

Later, according to Fields, another copperhead was brought to the church. It was this one that bit Mrs. Fields.

DIES ON COAST

Mrs. Myrtle Kohler Osbun Was Former Mansfielder.

Word was received here today of the death on July 30 of Mrs. Myrtle Kohler Osbun, 64, in Manhattan Beach, Calif. Mrs. Osbun was the wife of Parke W. Osbun. Both she and her husband formerly lived in Mansfield, leaving here 35 years ago for the west coast.

Mrs. Osbun was taken ill with pneumonia and died after an illness of only three days. She was born Jan. 29, 1876, in the Kohler homestead, North Main street road, the daughter of Hezikiah and Rebecca (Myers) Kohler, pioneer residents of Franklin township.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Osbun is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Sadie Dickson, Arlington avenue, Mansfield, and Mrs. W. L. Morthland, Sacramento, Calif., and one brother, Perry B. Kohler, Franklin township.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Osbun had visited in Mansfield frequently since moving west.

ILL SIX WEEKS

Bertie Stevick, 56, Dies at Home of Sister.

Bertie Owen Stevick, 56, lifelong resident of Mansfield and the vicinity, died Sunday evening at the home of his sister, Mrs. Ben Banks, east of Lucas. Mr. Stevick had been ill for six weeks.

Born in Mansfield Oct. 10, 1883, Mr. Stevick was a retired employe of the Humphryes Manufacturing company.

Surviving besides Mrs. Banks are two brothers, Clyde of Mansfield and Otto of Cleveland, and another sister, Mrs. May White, also of Cleveland.

The body is at the Wappner funeral home. Arrangements for burial were incomplete today.

The Voice of BROADWAY

—By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Speaking For Myself.

These are the days when I find myself trying to figure out a smart answer when some character says to me: "Is it hot enough for you?" So far, the only one I've been able to think of is: "No that's why I'm wearing this sable coat." . . . I wonder what will be the feminine reaction to Franchot Tone's new mustache . . . I've never seen an excavation-digging that could hold my interest for more than 30 seconds. With jewelry store windows it's different.

From the rumors around the Broadway spots, the size of the bankrolls being flashed, I am getting the impression that every South American is a millionaire. Anyway, all the South Americans who rhuma at LaConga and take Powers models to the movies are millionaires.

Odd that there aren't any movie theaters named after movie stars. It seems to me it would be just as sensible to name a film house "Loew's Valentino" or "Loew's Gable" as it was to call one "Loew's 72nd."

* * *

One of the prettiest sights in town is the corps of the Riviera chorus line riding uptown to work on the Eighth avenue subway at 6 p. m.—the public's close-up view of the front line pretties.

It seems to me the newsreel companies would be smart if they saved all those ski-meet sequences which bore audiences all winter long and show them during these heat waves, when they'd really be appreciated.

Nothing looks sillier than a 45-year-old business man doing a conga with a cutie on the Stork club dance floor. . . . I think Ida Lupino did a wonderful job as the neurotic wife in "They Drive By Night." And to think they made her play inane ingenues for years!

I'm sure by now New York must have lost its reputation for being a cold-hearted big city. I think it's friendlier and less forbidding than any small town I've been in.

* * *

I love masquerades. I think they're the most exciting kind of parties. . . . Sweet and gentle personalities are nicest to get along with over lengthy periods of time, I suppose, but I'm grateful now and then that there are spicy-tempered divas and hot-headed temperamental stars like Grace Moore and Katharine Hepburn around to make anecdotes and add legend to the theatrical porfession.

I wish some one would start working on an air-conditioned taxicab, so you could go from an air-conditioned bistro to an air-conditioned double feature without roasting.

I'd love to know the origin of the silly expressions that sweep the country now and then. The current phrase, "Hit the road, bum," has me baffled, but every one seems to know and use it, from bookies in Lindy's to debs in Armando's.

* * *

The Times Square drug stores are selling more electric fans than chewing gum . . . I like the custom some restaurants have of serving sherbet after the main course. It's nice, like getting two desserts.

Bert Wheeler always makes me laugh, but Jack Haley doesn't. . . It makes me giggle to hear that Jack Teagarden has become a "debutante band leader" at the Sea Girt Inn. I remember when he played what they then called jazz and later called swing, when he grabbed a trombone and played pure blue notes into the fast air of the 1920's.

He was always a soloist then with one of the big bands, and finally he got his own outfit and played hot stuff for the dancing jitterbugs. Now they're billing him as a stick-wielder for vacationing tourists. It kills me.

* * *

I always go to see Cary Grant films because they're always sure to be gay . . . Canoes make me think of Indians and Northwest Passage . . . Parrots intrigue me, especially Chico, the venerable bird down at El Chico, who has such a large vocabulary I always get the uncanny impression that he really knows what people are talking about.

Bookmakers' wives all look alike—and when they smile you expect their faces to crack like glaciers . . . Missing a Mickey Rooney epic never made life unbearable for me . . . I love to watch Betty Hutton perform, but I wind up much more exhausted than she does . . . I think very soft boiled eggs are revolting.

The garment district is always fascinating to me . . . So is the vegetable market early in the a. m., when the trucks come in with the cabbages and broccoli and other stuff for the iceboxes of the city.

I feel sorry for the swank citizens of Guilford, Conn., who have the fanciest volunteer fire department in the world. All the rich business men who summer there have become fire "buffs," and they've put a fortune into the most modern fire engines and blaze-fighting equipment. But, ah, woe—they haven't had a fire there in two years!

Thinking about John Barrymore's past life is always good for a laugh—I wish he'd write his autobiography, or dictate it. The other day I heard for the first time that he was once insured against marriage (this was during his early stage days, when his manager wanted him to retain his matinee idol standing)—and a week later he got married!

Fred Allen is a funny man to me. I haven't seen Charlie Chaplin in years, but when I was a little girl his comedies made me cry. . . I've finally succumbed to the bowling fad. My score wouldn't make impressive recording, but it's fun, and you get the illusion that all that exercise must be whittling the waistline.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—"The Sea Hawk," Screenplay by Howard Koch and Seton I. Miller. Directed by Michael Curtiz. Principals: Errol Flynn, Brenda Marshall, Claude Rains, Donald Crisp, Flora Robson, Alan Hale, Henry Daniell, Una O'Conner, James Stephenson, Gilbert Roland, William Lundigan.

This is the swashbucklingest epic since the late Doug Fairbanks whipped armies of the Cardinal's guards in "The Three Musketeers." It's lively, romantic, crammed with action and excitement.

The Sea Hawks, of whom Geoffrey Thorpe (Flynn) was most daring and courageous, were British privateers who preyed upon Spanish shipping and brought their booty to Queen Elizabeth's coffers—under her official frown and to her private delight. This is according to the picture, whose fidelity to history may be challenged (if anybody cares).

The picture opens at a fast clip with Thorpe's capture of the Spanish ship bearing King Philip II's ambassador (Rains) and niece, Donna Maria (Marshall) to Elizabeth's court. It's a rousing, bloody bit of sea warfare, beautifully photographed. And "The Sea Hawk" never stops moving. The action encompasses Captain Thorpe's expedition after Spanish gold in Panama; capture of his company and their imprisonment as galley slaves; their escape and a harum-scarum duel between Flynn and that vill-yun Wolfingham (Daniell). Stand-out performance: Miss Robson as Elizabeth.

* * *

"Pride and Prejudice." Screenplay by Aldous Huxley and Jane Murfin from Jane Austen novel as dramatized by Helen Jerome. Directed by Robert Z. Leonard. Principals: Greer Garson, Laurence Olivier, Mary Boland, Maureen O'Sullivan, Edna May Oliver, Ann Rutherford, Edmund Gwenn, Heather Angel, Frieda Inescort, Karen Morley, Marsha Hunt.

* * *

One of the most delightful comedies to hit the screen is this account of aggressive man-hunting by the ambitious mama (Boland) of five marriageable daughters (Garson, O'Sullivan, Rutherford, Angel, Hunt) in a small English community of the post-Napoleonic era.

"Pride and Prejudice" has a style that would distinguish it entirely apart from its interesting and amusing title. Match-making mama is kept just this side of caricature by Miss Boland; strong-minded Lizzie is done sensitively by Garson; and Gwenn makes an ideal father, Oliver, of course, is wealthy Mr. Darcy, main object of mama's schemes for Lizzie. He plays it with the dour romanticism that won him feminine sighs in "Rebecca." Surprise: Marsha Hunt as the ugly duckling.

All-Stars Seek First Victory In City Softball Series

Need Win Today

Hermans Can Annex Title With Victory; McKinley to Face Fullager.

UNDISTURBED by their two successive defeats, the Mansfield Wrecking company All-Stars will resume hostilities with the unbeaten Sons of Herman in the third game of the series for the city championship at 6:15 p. m. today at Liberty park.

Dale McKinley, strikeout king of the Alta Lumbers, will be Manager Wagner's choice to handle the mound assignment against the Hermans.

* * *

The All-Stars will "shoot the works" today for they must win to remain in the series. Should McKinley be unable to halt the Herman combine, "Stub" Winebrenner will get the call.

* * *

Pilot Frank Beeber's Hermans who were scheduled to go after their 17th straight win at Akron yesterday, were idle because the Jim Brown team of Akron did not show up.

Beeber will nominate Jim Fullager, who has scored two wins over the All-Stars, to toe the rubber for the Hermans.

* * *

The previous contests have been thrillers and the Hermans were forced to come from behind to win. The Herman outfit won the opener, 4 to 3, and took the second game by a 7 to 5 count.

* * *

A record crowd is expected to be on hand to see today's melee which is expected to develop into a bitterly-contested affray. The All-Stars are sure they can beat the Hermans and the undefeated club is determined that no Mansfield team will place a blemish on its record.

Indians Start Western Road Trip Against Sox; Feller Beats Yankees

Tribe Takes Edge In Series; Pounds Ruffing For 10 Hits In 3-1 Win.

CHICAGO—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians open a week's campaign in the west today, opposing the Chicago White Sox here after burying the New York Yankees' pennant prospects.

Bob Feller handcuffed the Yanks Sunday at Cleveland, yielding only five hits in the Tribe's 3-to-1 victory. That put the Indians only a half a game behind Detroit and first place.

Manager Oscar Vitt had told his warriors that defeating the New Yorkers in the past series would eliminate them as pennant rivals. So his boys won two out of three games.

* * *

Before Feller settled down, Charley Keller singled in the second inning and Joe Gordon beat out a bunt. They advanced on a sacrifice and Keller scored on another out. But the Yanks got only two hits after that.

* * *

The Indians made 10 hits off Charlie Ruffing. Ben Chapman tied the score in the third when he doubled and came in on Roy Weatherly's hot single.

In the fifth, Russ Peters and Rollie Hemsley singled and Feller drove in the winning run with a hot shot past Ruffing. The final run was made by Lou Boudreau who singled, stole second and scored on another single by Hemsley.

It was Feller's 18th victory of the season.

Girls Win, Will Play In State Tourney

Girls Hand Elyria Team 2-1 Defeat in Softball Tilt.

Not satisfied with hurling a sparkling two-hitter, Clark, Mansfield Merchant Girls' ace pitcher, smashed out a home run to score the run that gave the girls a 2 to 1 victory over the Frank's Bakery of Elyria at Elyria yesterday.

* * *

Yesterday's win over the Elyria club gave the Mansfielders the right to go from this district to State Girls' softball tournament to be held later this month.

* * *

Next Sunday the Merchants tangle with the Northridgeville girls' team, which scored a 5 to 0 shutout over the Myers Cleaners of Ashland yesterday in another district match. But win or lose the Mansfield team still retains the right to enter the tourney.

Mansfield scored once in the fifth and once in the ninth for the two-run total. Elyria's only run came in the second frame.

* * *

Holda tallied the most hits for the Merchants, getting a double and a single out of three trips to the batter's box.

* * *

When the Mansfielders meet the Northridgeville club next week they will be strengthened by two new players, Gatford, a lefthander and Pomeroy, a hard-hitting outfielder. Garford and Pomeroy are considered among the best players in the district.

'A' Golf Clubs Tee Off at Possum Run.

With the Long Bar leading The News-Journal Class "A" league by a comfortable six-point margin, the eight teams in the loop will tee off at Possum Run Tuesday for their weekly round of match-play. The schedule: Long Bar vs. Richland Printing, Oak's Club vs. Barnes and Schmid Tires, Nite club vs. Mansfield Athletic Supply, and Yuncker Brothers vs. Sloan's Drugs.

Dayton Club Still Tops

Sharpshooters Chalk Up 3,966 Score.

MT. GILEAD—(AP)—The Dayton rifle and revolver club still is tops among the state's rifle teams.

That was proved yesterday when the Dayton experts chalked up a 3,966 aggregate score in the team rifle matches of the Ohio rifle and pistol association. Second spot went to Canton McKinley rifle club with 3,955 and third to Portage rifle club of Akron with 3,952.

The Ohio Rubber Company rifle club of Willoughby took the Class B championship with an aggregate of 3,951, with Tiffin rifle club placing second with 3,946 and General rifle club of Akron third with 3,900.

Cuyahoga Civilian Marksmen's association of Cleveland placed first in the league match between 10-man all-star teams. The winning score was 7,888. Western Ohio Rifle league was second with 7,881 and Summit County league was third with 7,855.

Change of seasons doesn't seem to stop these two young ladies from enjoying a summer ski high up on Mt. Baker in Washington state. These slopes are covered with snow the year-round. It makes a good hot weather picture, too.

McKinley Gives Up One Hit In Opener As Cabs Split

WITH Dale McKinley coming through with a brilliant one-hit pitching performance in the opening game, the Safety Cabs divided a softball doubleheader with the Newark Independents at North Lake park yesterday.

* * *

McKinley was robbed of a no-hitter when Hiles beat out a bunt in the 5th inning as he won the opener by a 5 to 0 county. Harold Geiger was on the mound as the Cabbies lost a 4 to 0 decision in the nightcap.

* * *

Jumping on Pitcher George for three runs in the initial frame, the Safety combine coasted to victory as the team played errorless ball. Hiles was one of two Newark players to reach first as McKinley gave up one walk. The Cabs added two runs in the sixth.

The second tussle developed into a pitchers' duel until Newark bunched four hits in the sixth frame to score its four markers.

* * *

The Cabbies Secured only two hits off the twirling of Feltzer in the second encounter. Botzer was the only Mansfield player to get an extra base hit—a double.

* * *

In the first melee, Johnny Hallabrin and Garner Judy do the heavy work at the plate. Hallabrin drove in four runs with a pair of doubles and Judy added a double and single. McKinley fanned nine in the opener.

Spear-Enos Win 1st Doubles Match in City Net Tourney

By GEORGE SATTLER

BOB SPEAR and Bob Enos, city doubles champions for the past four years, won their first match in the City-wide Tennis tournament yesterday by defeating Steve Olin and Tom Wright, at the Woodland court.

* * *

Displaying top notch tournament form, the Spear-Enos combination had little trouble in eliminating their rivals, 6-4, 6-0. At no time in the two sets were the champions in any serious difficulty.

Today marks the last day for playing matches in the first round bracket. All matches must be completed tonight or be subject to default.

Thorton Moore, top-seeded in the singles division, had a good day yesterday defeating Ned Sturges in straight love sets 6-0, 6-0 after Sturges had defeated George Haines 6-3, 3-6, 6-0 in an earlier match.

Moore later teamed up with Warner Peterson for a doubles match with Alderson and Koozer. Moore and Peterson defeated Alderson and Koozer, 6-0 and 6-1.

The Moore-Peterson combination walked away with the Woodlawn tournament doubles crown earlier this season and have been picked as the leading contenders, along with Spear and Enos, for the city doubles title.

In other men's singles matches over the week-end, Pehl defeated Cary of Shelby at Liberty Park, 6-3, 4-6 and 6-2. Richard Huffman gained a decision over John Schuckman by default.

In a doubles contest, the Oberlin-Pehl team won over Mancini and Brandon, 5-7, 6-4, and 6-4.

In the only women's singles match reported over the week-end, Eloise Dillon defeated Dorothy Moore, 6-4, 6-1.

Results of matches reported late Monday: Larson defeated Grandon 6-0, 6-1 and Meese copped a decision over Stough, 6-2, 6-1.

Walker, Whiters To Fight Tonight

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Jack (Buddy) Walker of Columbus and Johnny Whiters of Pontiac, Mich., step into the ring tonight to settle a supremacy dispute only intensified by Walker's 10-round decision over Whiters a month ago.

* * *

The rematch between the two heavyweights was occasioned by the general unpopularity of the judges' verdict in the first encounter.

Arthur Donovan of New York noted fight referee, will be asked to be the sole judge in addition to arbitrating the 12-round bout.

Triumphs Over Reds Cheer Boston Club; Bees Divide Contests

Casey Stengel's Club Is Only Outfit Cincy Is Having Trouble With.

By SID FEDER, Associated Press Sports Writer.

FOR the sake of old Casey Stengel's thinning hair, it's a good thing the Cincinnati Reds still are in the National league.

And, for the sake of those world series bubbles currently being inflated in the Rhineland, it's quite fortunate for the Reds that misfortunes have been dogging the Brooklyn Dodgers—misfortunes like the "beaning" of Ducky Medwick back in mid-June, which finally has led to the benching of the muscles man for weak hitting.

On the one hand, there's old Casey tearing his hair out in bunches at the woeful ways of his Boston Bees against the other clubs in the National league, only to paste it back on again whenever his club tangles with the Reds.

* * *

On the other hand, the Reds came east July 2 with a five-game lead in the National league, dropped eight of 16 starts, and are now on the way home with a 6½-game lead over the second place Dodgers. This is largely because the Brooklyns could only win six while losing nine to the western invaders.

* * *

Old Casey is only sorry the Reds' Boston stay wasn't longer than the three double-header program over the week-end. In that time, his Bees not only took four of six, including a split in yesterday's finale, but climbed out of the loop cellar.

Since the Phillies lost two to the fast-moving Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-1 and 6-4, the Bees' split dropped the Phils into the cellar.

The Dodgers didn't have a chance against the Chicago Cubs in their opener and dropped it 11-3, as Gabby Hartnett's laughing boys rang the bell for a season high with a 21-hit attack. The Cubs shot six across in the first three frames of the afterpiece but the Dodgers tied it up on Pee-Wee Reese's ninth-inning homer and won out 7-6 in the 11th when Dolph Camilli clouted one over the right field fence.

The St. Louis Cardinals wound up a high-flying eastern swing by splitting with the Giants, losing 3-2 and winning 6-3.

With the possible exception of Washington's Senators, the eastern half of the American league limped home today, glad the trip was all over. Only the Nats came through with an edge in the invasion, and they had to knock off Jimmy Dykes' Chicago White Sox twice yesterday to do it, 4-3 and 1-0. Ken Chase turned in the day's hurling masterpiece in the afterpiece, a three-hitter.

The New York Yankees wound up in the west with the doubtful honor of not having taken a series. Bobby Feller tossed the Cleveland Indians to a 3-1 win yesterday.

* * *

This victory boosted the Tribe to within half-a-game of the league leading Detroit Tigers, who fell victims to Mose Gove who helped himself to his third straight win with an eight-hitter for a 7-3 victory.

* * *

For the what's the use dept., the St. Louis Browns stayed out of the cellar by trimming the Philadelphia Athletics 5-4 and 6-4.

CARRY OFF CHAMPION AND RUNNER-UP TITLES

CINCINNATI—(AP)—Cincinnatians carried off the championship as well as copping runner-up positions in the first tri-state amateur golf tournament of Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana.

Bob Sulzer, city champion, and Tommy Earls won the title in a playoff with two fellow townsmen, Billy Gilbert III and Milt Schloss.

Moose Lodge Marks Up 12th Softball Win

Brown Gives Bellville Seven Hits in 7-5 Victory.

The Mansfield Moose Lodge softball team, a member of the Y. M. C. A. Club league, extended its spectacular winning streak to 12 straight triumphs yesterday as it defeated the Bellville Moose Lodge team, 7 to 5 in a contest at Blue Goose field.

* * *

A three-run uprising in the sixth inning enabled the Mansfield club, which was trailing, 5 to 4, to come from behind and register its victory. Francis Brown worked on the hill for the winners and gave up seven hits, one less than the Mansfielders collected.

* * *

Bellville forged ahead, 4 to 3, in the third inning and maintained the advantage until the Mansfield outfit came through with its three markers in the sixth.

Brickhart and Dillinger led the Bellville Moose at the plate with two hits apiece, while Cochran and Brown paced the winners with two bingles each.

Yachts Swing Into Action

R Class Races First at Put-In Bay.

PUT-IN-BAY—(AP)—Fleets of fast yachts swung into the course racing program of the annual Interlake Yachting Association regatta here today.

The R class was first, followed by others at five-minute intervals.

A forest of tall spars on trim hulls of every description bobbed in the bay after a stormy Sunday brought three coast guard cutters to the rescue of arriving boatmen.

Three boats capsized and two others went aground in wind and rain. The cutters Frederick Lee of Toledo, Dix of Detroit and the 153 of Wyandotte, Mich., surveyed the choppy lake. No one was lost.

The 153 found an overturned sailboat off East Point and took aboard two persons who had been rescued a few minutes earlier by a passing cruiser.

ISALY DAIRY SOFTBALLERS TRIP DALEY TEAM, 6 TO 1

Isaly Dairy softballers registered a 6 to 1 victory over Daley's Cafe in a tilt played at G. B. U. park yesterday.

Isaly's combine picked up a 4 to 1 lead in the second inning and with Harner hurling two-hit ball, coasted to the finish. Bertka hit a home run and double to pace the winners at the plate. Harner aided his own cause with a circuit clout.

Split With Lima

Braves Drop Opener, 14-7, But Annex Night Cap By a 7 to 6 Count.

THANKS to the steady hurling of lanky George Laurila, the Mansfield Braves divided an Ohio State league doubleheader with the pace-making Lima Pandas before a disappointing crowd of 400 at the Fairground yesterday.

Lima took advantage of Everett Stenman's wildness in the first inning of the opener to score nine runs and hand the Braves a 14 to 7 whipping. Mansfield came back to take the nightcap by a 7 to 6 count.

* * *

Mansfield invades Fostoria today and will return to the fair park to tangle with the last-place Red Birds at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday. Rex Benton will hurl tonight and Tony Angaran may get the call Tuesday.

* * *

Yesterday's contests marked the first time Tim Managan has been in the lineup for over a month. He was behind the plate in the second setto. Managan suffered a split finger and has been on the suspended list.

Lima sent 13 men to the plate in the first inning of the opener before Mansfield could retire the side. Stenman gave up five walks and a hit and Manager Dewey Stover sent Bob Arnold, the club's leading pitcher, in to relieve him.

After the Pandas had piled up the commanding lead, Snoddy had an easy time stopping the Braves although he gave up 12 hits, only allowing the Braves to dent the plate seven times.

* * *

Mansfield scored twice in the first frame of the nightcap and added two markers in the fourth and two more in the fifth to ice the game. Meanwhile, Laurila was holding Lima to a single tally in the second, three in the fourth and two in the fifth. Aided by a double play he retired the side in order the rest of the way in the seven-inning tilt.

* * *

In the first setto Hal Hundemer and Gene Woodling led the Braves at the plate with a double and single apiece, while Woodling cracked out two doubles and a single in the second tussle. Kosak was the Lima star. He hit two home runs and a triple in the opener.

BROWN COPS WESTERN JUNIOR TENNIS TROPHY

GAMBIER—(AP)—Tom Brown of San Francisco carted the major share of the silverware away from the western junior tennis tournament.

Brown won the championship trophy in singles by whipping Earl Cochell of Los Angeles, 1-6, 6-1, 6-3, 6-4, in the final match Saturday and then teamed with Cochell to take the doubles, beating Robert Smidl and Bill Bauman of Oak Park, Ill., 6-4, 6-1, 6-2, 5-7, 6-3.

Saddened Reds Return Home; Open Against Cubs Tuesday

CINCINNATI — (AP) — The saddened Cincinnati Reds returned home today without their plucky little second-string catcher, Willard Hershberger, and welcomed a day of rest before facing the Chicago Cubs.

* * *

Hershberger, who ended his life with a razor blade in a Boston hotel room Saturday, was moving west on another train—to the end of his journey in Visalia, Calif., for funeral services Thursday.

* * *

The Reds concluded their ill-fated tour by splitting a doubleheader with Boston, losing the first game 5-3 and taking the nightcap 12-9. Members of the Cincinnati club blamed Hershberger's despondency over their losing streak on the tour for his act. He took responsibility for part of the losses on himself, they said.

Bucky Walters tumbled to his third straight defeat in the opener after being spotted to a three-run lead in the first round. From then on Richard Errickson blanked the Reds with five hits.

The Bees, aided by three errors, came from behind with a two-run uprising in the seventh to mark up the triumph.

A talk by Manager Bill McKechnie with the players apparently had an effect in the second game. He asked them to win the pennant and dedicate it to Hershberger.

The Rhinelanders started scoring in the opening round, punching out a run on Ival Goodman's double and Frank McCormick's single.

In the third inning they increased their lead to 3-0 off Jim Tobin as McCormick connected for a double and Rookie Mike Dejan landed a triple into deep centerfield.

* * *

In the same round the Bees counted four runs on two doubles, two walks and a triple. But McCormick, who drove in two Red runs in the opener, collected four for five in the second game and batted in six of the dozen Cincinnati markers.

* * *

The Reds, still six and one-half games ahead of second-place Brooklyn, won only two of six games from the Bees and split even in 16 encounters.

Kansas City Stages Drive

Record Mounts to 15 Wins In a Row.

(By Associated Press)

Maybe the fact that there's going to be a Shaughnessy playoff can save the final six weeks of the American association season for being a total loss.

* * *

Kansas City and Minneapolis engaged in a tight duel for first place until about three weeks ago when the Blues started a drive that is still moving at a sensational pace. Two victories over St. Paul Sunday gave Kansas City 15 victories in a row and left them 11½ games ahead of the Millers and 14½ games ahead of Columbus in third place. The Sunday scores were 8-2 and 2-1.

* * *

Minneapolis, after dropping five straight, defeated Milwaukee twice, 4 to 2 and 3 to 0, and Columbus matched thepace by turning back Louisville twice, 2 to 1 in 15 innings and 3 to 0 in seven.

Indianapolis broke a 10-game losing streak with a double victory over Toledo, 7 to 3 and 6 to 5. John Vander Meer won his fourth victory in the first game, walking two and striking out four.

GAINS DECISION

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y. — Don McNeill gains topsided 6-4, 6-3, 6-3 victory over Frank Kovacs in final of 50th Meadow Club invitation tennis tournament; Ted Schroeder and Jack Kramer win doubles.

Browns Take Yanks Twice

Youngstown Moves Into 2nd After Double Win.

AKRON — (AP) — It's still anybody's race as the Middle Atlantic league enters its final month.

* * *

The Akron Yankees are on top by a game and a half over the Youngstown Browns, who took second place from Charleston as the result of Sunday's games. But last place Portsmouth is only nine and a half games out of the lead.

* * *

The Browns drubbed the Yanks twice yesterday, 11 to 1 and 5 to 4. Youngstown players fattened their batting averages in the first game, but the second was extended to 10 innings with the Yanks outhitting the Browns, 11 to 8.

The Dayton Wings forced the Canton Terriers into fifth place with a 4 to 0 shutout at Dayton. The Wings made only three hits off Walt Dixon, while Red Ricketts gave Canton four.

* * *

Portsmouth shut off a belated Charleston rally in the last half of the ninth to defeat the Senators, 5 to 4.

* * *

SPORTS PARADE

By HENRY M'LEMORE

NEW YORK—(UP)—Hand me down my walking cane and my cheese, boys, because this rat is leaving a sinking ship.

* * *

Goodbye, Captain McCarthy!

* * *

Farewell, First Mate Dickey!

So long, Boatswain Di Maggio!

And au revoir to the rest of you Yankees — Ruffing, Keller, Gordon, Rolfe, Gomez, Crosetti, Dahlgren and Selkirk. It was nice to have known you when—when you were bombers instead of busts, champions instead of chumps, and victors instead of vanquished.

I don't know to what American league ship I am going, as I gaily leap overboard, but I'm on my way to a safer haven. It may be Cleveland, it may be Detroit, or it may even be Boston. At the moment I'm treading water, but that is better than becoming a completely drowned rat.

Rat that I admit I am for leaving you when the gunwales are a-wash, there are extenuating circumstances. Many a man has stuck by a ball club, but try to name me a ball club that has stuck by a man. When I had whooping cough last year did McCarthy come by and whoop it up with me? When chicken pox laid me low two years ago did Di Maggio bake me a cake with an autograph on it? When the Morris Plan clamped down on me did any one of the Yankees volunteer to dig into his world series money to save me the embarrassment of embarrassing by cosigners?

Having spent the past four and a half years aboard the Yankee ship, it is only natural that I should be expected to explain my desertion. I made a careful study of the team before cane and cheese equipped. I jumped.

I had the outfield out to dinner, and I took the infield out to dinner.

I played catch with the pitchers, and played pitch with the catchers.

I discussed Willkie with the utility men and discussed Roosevelt with the relief men.

What more could a man do than all this?

Nothing, so after all this I reached the conclusion that motivated my quitting the Yankees—the Yankees, as of today, are nine games out of first place.

I have a sneaking feeling that I eventually will end up boarding the Cleveland ship. If I do, my welcome should be warm. After all the nice things I have said about the Indians they should not only make it warm for me, but too hot for me.

* * *

In case I do board the Cleveland ship let me explain now that I am only an Indian giver—I take back all I ever said about the club.

* * *

There is this to be said for the Cleveland club, too. It's the one place in the American league that a friend can have a "Feller."

BIG BERRIES

BURLINGTON, Vt.—(UP)—Vermont farmers fear that the common strawberry may become a problem.

Recently, Conrow Chamberlain of Jericho arrived at market with a regulation berry basket that was filled by 25 strawberries grown on his farm.

The same day, C. W. Young of St. Albans Bay disclosed that strawberries in his patch were running 22 to the quart.

GULDAHL WINS

MILWAUKEE—Ralph Guhldahl wins $5,000 Milwaukee open golf tournament with 68-67-66-67—268, sixteen strokes under par, when Johnny Bulla falters on last round after setting P. G. A. record of 197 for 54 holes.

Thin-Skinned Players Are Ripe Targets For Baseball's Sharp-Tongued Jockeys

CLEVELAND—This is baseball's bench jockey season, bringing up the question: How far may the dugout deriders go?

* * *

The answer is, pretty far, if they don't make their remarks personal, and out of the game if they do.

* * *

"Jockeying by players on the bench has gradually crept in and now seems to be a part of the game without any special rules and regulations," explains President William Harridge of the American league.

"It is a matter of umpire judgment, however, as to just how far jockeying is permitted on the bench. No player, of course, in the American league is permitted to use any profanity or address any personal remarks from the bench to the players on the field."

The Cleveland Indians found recently, for instance, they couldn't take any verbal liberties with Herb Hash, the Boston Red Sox' pitcher, for the umpires ruled mention of his name came under the head of "personal remarks."

Demonstrating that the borderline isn't very closely defined are some words from the sharp tongue of Jimmy Dykes, Chicago White Sox manager who recently predicted Boston's Ted Williams would be ridden out of the league.

"My guys didn't say a word to Williams," Dykes related recently. "Some of the boys simply had read that Ted wanted to be a fireman, so every time he came to bat, they'd beat on the dugout railing and yell, 'Ma! Here comes the fire engines.'

"The Red Sox tried to get Lew Kolls to stop us, but Lew ruled that as long as we didn't mention any names, there was nothing the umpire could do about it. A good umpire, that Kolls."

* * *

The rule doesn't prevent managers from making personal remarks about their own players, for when a dozen men on the Cleveland club demanded Oscar Vitt's removal (they rescinded their demand later), they declared Vitt was in the habit of abusing them publicly, even when they were on the ball field.

* * *

Dykes has the reputation of being the league's No. 1 bench jockey, but one cautious, impartial observer in a position to hear all that goes on wasn't certain about the merit of Dykes' claim. "That," he declared, "is purely a matter of opinion."

THEATERS

Comedy and Drama.

"The Mortal Storm" unfolds the timely and heart-stirring narrative of a family "somewhere in Europe," happy, contented, tolerant, then suddenly awakening to find itself in the throes of a new order of things resulting from political oppression. The family divides against itself. The sons become involved in the hatreds and passions of the political movement. Margaret Sullavan, James Stewart, and Frank Morgan have the leads. The co-feature is the Hugh Herbert comedy, "LaConga Nights" at the Madison.

* * *

Maryland's Steeplechase.

The thrills and spills of America's most spectacular steeplechase are blended into the heart story of two young people in love, torn by a fierce family pride, in the technicolor production, "Maryland," which is showing at the Ohio. The historic Maryland Hunt Cup race provides a stirring climax to the human drama which captures the romance and beauty of the state in all its traditional glory. Walter Brennan, Fay Bainter, Brenda Joyce, John Payne, and Charlie Ruggles are in the cast.

* * *

Shirley Temple Returns.

The world-renowned and beloved play by Maurice Maeterlinck, "The Blue Bird," which has been presented on the stages of 45 nations and has been translated into 32 languages, comes to the screen at the Ritz Tuesday. Shirley Temple, Spring Byington, Nigel Bruce and many others are featured in this technicolor film. The co-feature is Zane Grey's "The Light of the Western Stars," which is a blazing saga of the sagebrush.

* * *

Western and Crime.

"The Crooked Road," a drama showing at the Park, deals with the crime and retribution of a brilliant man who thought he was too smart for the law. The cast includes Henry Wilcoxon, Irene Hervey, Edmund Lowe, and Claire Carleton. The co-feature is "Wagons Westward," a thrilling Western with Chester Morris, Ona Munson and Anita Louise in the leads.

FISH STORY

Bass Knocks Himself Cold Chasing Minnows.

CHARLOTTE, N. C.—(U P)—J. R. Davis, fishing for carp, saw a school of minnows shoot under his boat. Then, Davis said, he heard a heavy thud and saw a big bass collide head-on with his boat.

The frish buckled in the middle, pitched into the air and out onto the bank—knocked out, cold, he said.

CHURCH ROBBED

BRISTOL, Eng.—(U P)— Souvenir hunters have robbed St. Mary's church, Redcliffe, Bristol, of its treasures—the signature of Queen Mary when she visited the church last year.

The page containing her signature and that of the Duchess of Beaufort, who attended her, was torn out of the visitor's book.

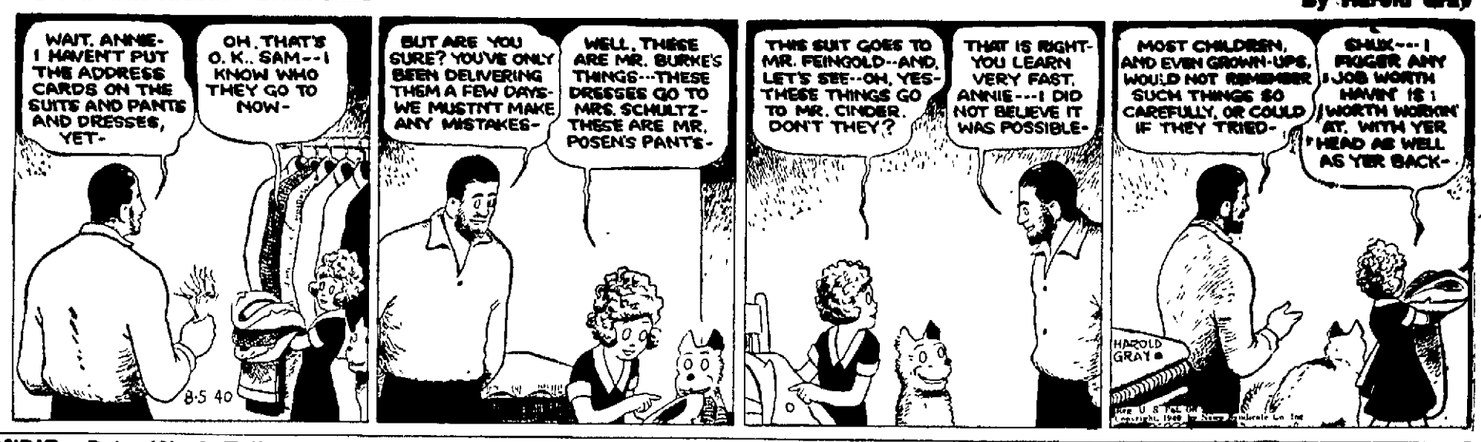
LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE— Brain Child By Harold Gray



WAIT, ANNIE- I HAVEN'T PUT THE ADDRESS CARDS ON THE SUITS AND PANTS AND DRESSES, YET-
OH, THAT'S O. K., SAM--I KNOW WHO THEY GO TO NOW-
8-5 40
BUT ARE YOU SURE? YOU'VE ONLY BEEN DELIVERING THEM A FEW DAYS- WE MUSTN'T MAKE ANY MISTAKES-
WELL, THESE ARE MR. BURKE'S THINGS--THESE DRESSES GO TO MRS. SCHULTZ- THESE ARE MR. POSEN'S PANTS-THIS SUIT GOES TO MR. FEINGOLD--AND, LET'S SEE--OH, YES- THESE THINGS GO TO MR. CINDER, DON'T THEY?
THAT IS RIGHT- YOU LEARN VERY FAST, ANNIE--- I DID NOT BELIEVE IT WAS POSSIBLE-
MOST CHILDREN, AND EVEN GROWN-UPS, WOULD NOT REMEMBER SUCH THINGS SO CAREFULLY, OR COULD IF THEY TRIED-
SHUX--- I FIGGER ANY JOB WORTH HAVIN' IS WORTH WORKIN' AT, WITH YER HEAD AS WELL AS YER BACK-
HAROLD GRAY

BLONDIE— Daisy Won't Tell By Chic Young

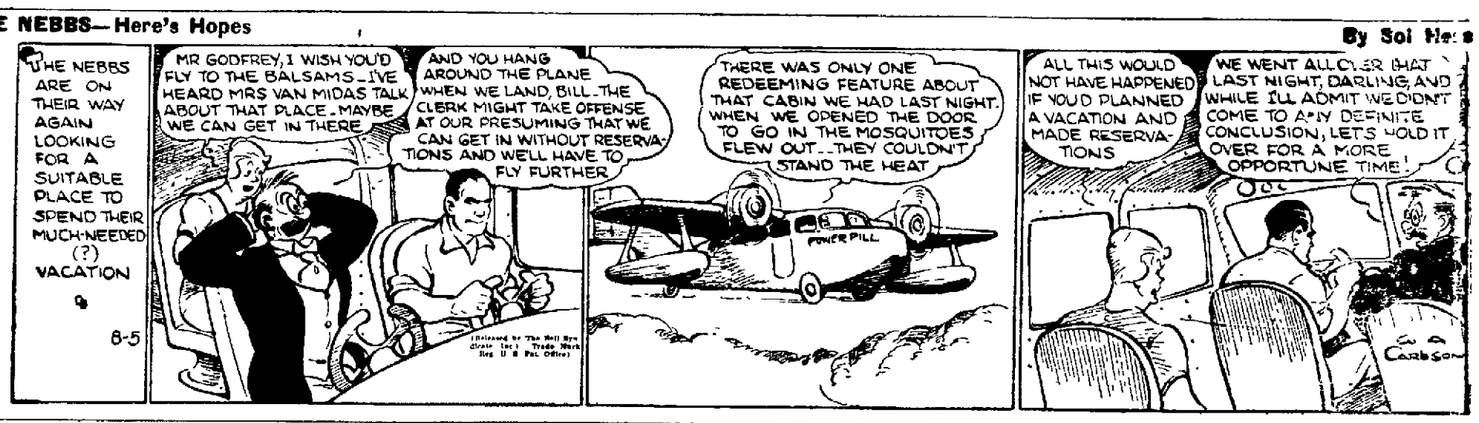
PAM— The Girl He Left Behind! By A. W. Brewerton

AT DUSK A FAST PLANE ROSE FROM A GOVERNMENT AIR-PORT.
HEAVEN GRANT, PAM DEAR, WE GET THIS UNHAPPY BUSINESS OVER QUICKLY — SO I CAN COME BACK TO YOU!
SO DAVID DEPARTS ON THAT SERIOUS F.B.I. BUSINESS, JUST HOW SERIOUS HE WAS CAREFUL NOT TO LET PAM KNOW!
IT'S JUST ABOUT TIME, NOW, FOR DAVID TO BE LEAVING. HOW I WILL MISS HIM! AND ON ACCOUNT OF THE SECRET NATURE OF HIS WORK HE'LL NOT BE ABLE TO LET ME HEAR FROM HIM — DIRECTLY.
JUST THEN THE PHONE!
HELLO-YES, THIS IS MISS POTTER — OH, MISS DEAN, HOW ARE YOU? OH, I'M FEELING JUST GRAND, THANK YOU!
I'M SO GLAD YOU'RE FEELING SO WELL. I-I WANT TO ASK A BIG FAVOR OF YOU
I WAS WONDERING, MISS POTTER, IF YOU FELT ABLE TO, IF YOU'D HELP ME OUT — THAT IS, AT COLONEL CAREY'S OFFICE, JUST UNTIL HE CAN GET ANOTHER GIRL. I'VE A CHANCE TO GET A NEW PLACE, A SWELL JOB, IF I GO AT ONCE, AND I JUST CAN'T DO THE COLONEL'S WORK--
WHY, CERTAINLY, MISS DEAN, I'LL BE GLAD TO DO THAT, IF YOU'RE SURE YOU DON'T WANT TO TRY FURTHER TO DO THE COLONEL'S WORK?---
WELL! LOOKS AS IF PAM'S OLD POSITION AT COL. CAREY'S OFFICE IS WIDE OPEN IF SHE WANTS IT!

THE NEBBS— Here's Hopes By Sol Hess



THE NEBBS ARE ON THEIR WAY AGAIN LOOKING FOR A SUITABLE PLACE TO SPEND THEIR MUCH-NEEDED (?) VACATION
8-5
MR GODFREY, I WISH YOU'D FLY TO THE BALSAMS - I'VE HEARD MRS VAN MIDAS TALK ABOUT THAT PLACE - MAYBE WE CAN GET IN THERE
AND YOU HANG AROUND THE PLANE WHEN WE LAND, BILL - THE CLERK MIGHT TAKE OFFENSE AT OUR PRESUMING THAT WE CAN GET IN WITHOUT RESERVATIONS AND WE'LL HAVE TO FLY FURTHER
THERE WAS ONLY ONE REDEEMING FEATURE ABOUT THAT CABIN WE HAD LAST NIGHT. WHEN WE OPENED THE DOOR TO GO IN THE MOSQUITOES FLEW OUT - THEY COULDN'T STAND THE HEAT
POWER PILL
ALL THIS WOULD NOT HAVE HAPPENED IF YOU'D PLANNED A VACATION AND MADE RESERVATIONS
WE WENT ALL OVER THAT LAST NIGHT, DARLING, AND WHILE I'LL ADMIT WE DIDN'T COME TO ANY DEFINITE CONCLUSION, LET'S HOLD IT OVER FOR A MORE OPPORTUNE TIME!

PIGEON GONE

Dancing Partner Executed as "Fifth Columnist."

NEW YORK — (AP) — Fernando Romero, Mexican dancer, and his wife Sonya arrived from Europe today on the passenger freighter Exmoor—but missing was Mathilda, the pigeon they used in their touring dance act.

Mathilda, they said, was executed in Bucharest by Rumanian officials who could not be argued out of their fear that the bird was a carrier pigeon working with spies.

STOCK MARKET TAKES SLIGHT DOWNWARD DIP

Speculative Element Still Can't Make Up Mind on Hitler's Next Move.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — The direction was slightly downward in today's apathetic stock market

Continuance of the stalemate, brokers thought, was due mainly to inability of speculative forces to make up their minds just what Hitler is up to in the Anglo-German conflict. Business hopes remained the principal argument against liquidation.

Bonds were in mild demand here and there. Commodities followed an irregular course.

Inclined to slip occasionally were shares of U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Texas Corp., General Electric and N. Y. Central.

Scattered rails had the benefit of surveys indicating the more promising crop picture in the west and southwest had substantially brightened earnings possibilities for grain carrying roads.

Among items studied by market analysts were:

The magazine "Steel" said mill backlogs were increasing and tonnage of heavy armor plate, over six inches, is believed to be sufficient to last producers well into 1946.

SEE SEVERANCE OF RELATIONS OVER ARRESTS

Open British-Jap Break Near as Nine Japanese Held; Conference Expected.

"Drastic measures" will be forthcoming, Japan has informed the British government, if the tense situation revolving around the arrests "becomes worse," it was authoritatively stated.

Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka has decided to lodge a strong protest demanding the immediate release of Japanese nationals plus the guarantee that no further "unlawful apprehensions" will be made.

Authoritative sources declared the foreign office apparently plans to renounce diplomatic relations unless the tension is soon alleviated.

One "vigorous protest" over the case of a Japanese national preceded by but a few hours the newest revelation of the foreign office's attitude.

The protest was lodged by the Japanese consul at Hong Kong over the arrest of Geturo Yamaguchi, prominent industrialist who was among nine Japanese citizens held by British authorities in various parts of the empire.

With regard to the other arrests, Japan's foreign office spokesman maintained what the official Japanese news agency Domei characterized as an "ominous silence" when questioned during his regular press conference.

Asked whether Japan would pursue a policy designed to prevent further aggravation of Anglo-Japaneses relations, the spokesman replied:

"I cannot say definitely."

A factional meeting at Osaka adopted a resolution that Tokyo "annihilate the influence of outrageous Britain." A copy of the resolution was telegraphed to British Ambassador Sir Robert Craigie.

The meeting urged the Japanese government to take a strong stand against the British.

French Indo-China Hears Jap Demands

SHANGHAI—(AP)—Chinese reports said today Japan had made new, sweeping demands on the government of French Indo-China, including the right to use the French railway into the Chinese province of Yunnan for military operations and to establish a military or naval base on the Indo-China coast.

These reports were not confirmed by other sources and were denied by an official Japanese spokesman in Tokyo.

The Chinese accounts said the Japanese wanted to use the railway from Haiphong, on the Indo-China coast, to Kunming, capital of Yunnan, for operations against the Chinese forces of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek. Such a thrust would menace the vulnerable southwestern provinces. Chiang's main stronghold. A coastal base presumably would be used for naval operations in the South seas, possibly designed to fix Japanese domination on the Dutch East Indies.

Japanese authorities here said they had no knowledge of specific new demands on Indo-China but recalled that "important representations" of an undisclosed nature were reported made Saturday to Vice-Admiral Jean Decoux, Petain-appointed governor-general of Indo-China. Local Japanese said they did not know the nature of the representations.

Domei (Japanese news agency) said they were made by the acting chief of the Japanese contraband control mission in Indo-China.

CHANDLER WINS

Renominated For Senate By Ten to One Margin.

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—(INS)—A. B. "Happy" Chadler, Kentucky's junior senator, won Democratic renomination by a wide margin in Saturday's primary election, almost complete returns showed today.

Chandler's Republican opponent in November apparently will be Walter B. Smith, Pineville attorney.

As tabulation resumed today, Chandler led Charles P. Farnsley by better than 10 to 1, and Smith's nearest opponent trailed by more than 17,000 votes.

Kentucky's nine incumbent congressmen, including one Republican, also won. They are Virgil Chapman (unopposed); A. J. May; Joe E. Bates; Noble Gregory; Edward Creal; Brent Spence; Beverly M. Vincent; Emmet O'Neal, and John M. Rossin, the lone Republican.

ULMANIS DIES

LONDON—(AP)—Dictator-deposed Karl Ulmanis, ousted as president of Latvia when his country sought adoption into the Soviet Union last month, has died of injuries suffered in an assault, according to a dispatch from Stockholm.

On July 22, two days after his removal from office, the 62-year-old Ulmanis was reported to have been wounded and taken to a hospital at Riga.

SHELBY PLANS NET TOURNEY

SHELBY—Shelby's first city-wide tennis tournament will get under way at Seltzer park courts later this month, officials in charge disclosed today.

The tournament will be divided into four sections. Singles for the men's senior and junior divisions, doubles for the men's divisions, and singles for the women's divisions.

Registrations will be accepted at the city hall for the tournament. The first round of the event will get under way Aug. 15. Registrations will be accepted up to Aug. 12.

AERIAL BATTLE SEEN IN AFRICA

Strong Italian Forces Seem Prepared for Launching Big Offensive.

British reconnaissance plane, escorted by four fighting craft in the Bir El Gubi area. Three Italian planes were shot down, the communique said.

Royal air force sources indicated that the increased Italian air activity was designed to prevent British reconnaissance planes from discovering strength of Italian troop concentrations and artillery batteries which were believed to have been brought up preparatory to an offensive on British positions.

Italian forces have been concentrating for some time in the Bir El Gobi area, near the Mediterranean and close to the Libyan-Egyptian frontier, it was unerstood.

(The Italian communique reported that a British attack had been repulsed near Lake Rudolf, in the upper Sudan area, and that British airplanes had killed four and wounded 30 in an attack on the Massawa harbor.)

The Italians were believed by the British to be throwing all their strength into an effort to take over control of the Mediterranean, especially in the Suez canal area which is vital to the task of supplying Italian Ethiopia.

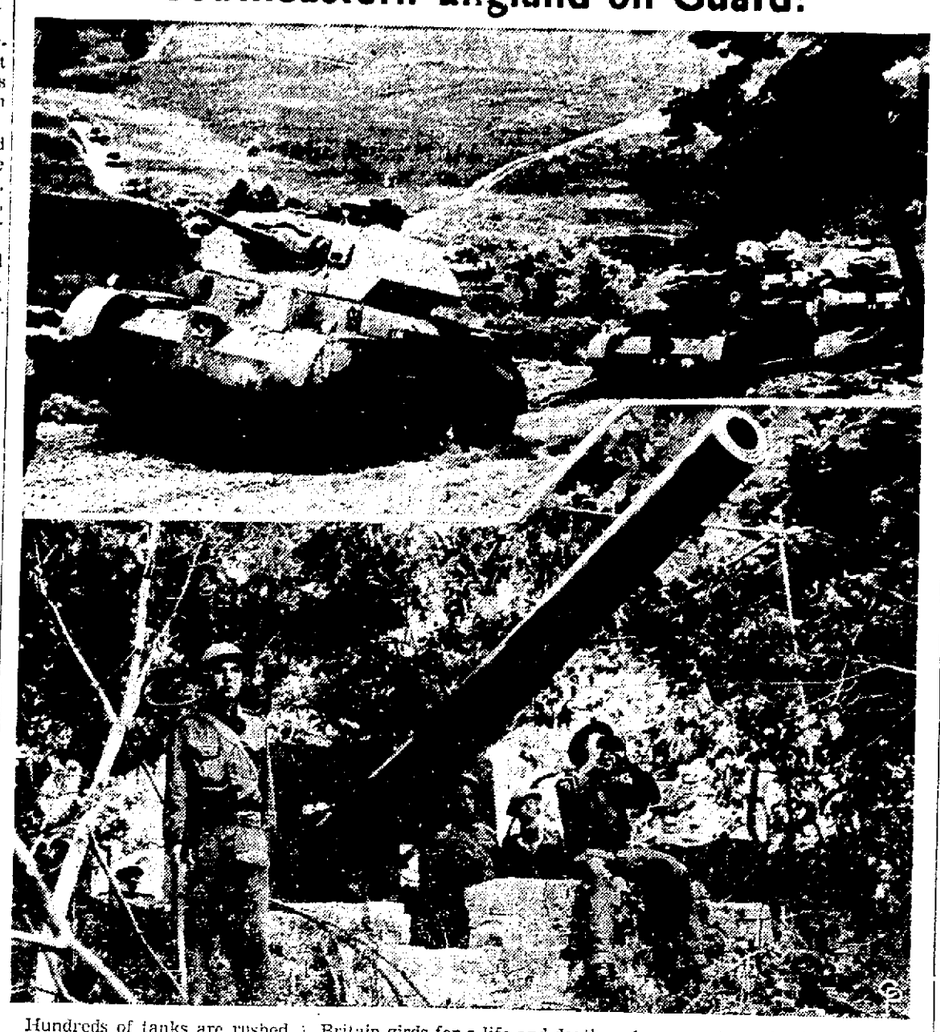
Report British Hangars Wrecked

ROME—(AP)—Some of Britain's most important strategic centers in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, Kenya and Aden zones, including newly-built airfields, were wrecked over the week-end by Italian air bombardment, Stefani, official Italian news agency, reported today.

New British air bases, the agency said, were discovered by Italian scouting planes and attacked by strong bombing squadrons.

Not only was a large hangar set afire at Haiya, important Anglo-Egyptian Sudan railway center, Stefani declared, but planes on the ground were so badly damaged they were put out of action.

Southeastern England on Guard!



Hundreds of tanks are rushed to the heavily fortified coast of southeastern England as Great Britain girds for a life and death struggle with Germany, expected to make first attempts at invasion in this area. Top, more heavy tanks arrive in the danger zone. Bottom, men of a heavy artillery unit on guard against any blitzkrieg invasion.

UNIONIST DIES

Chicago Labor Leader Under Indictment at Time.

CHICAGO—(AP)—Michael Carrozzo, a power in Chicago labor circles for years although he was listed as the president of only one union, is dead.

His attending physician, Dr. Herman L. Kretschner, said Carrozzo, who was 49, died yesterday in Presbyterian hospital after an operation last Thursday for the removal of gall stones.

At the time of his death the labor leader was under indictment for alleged violation of the anti-trust laws which grew out of charges that he and 11 co-defendants had conspired to prevent the use of ready-mixed concrete in this area.

Tax revenues from operation of motor vehicles today exceed the total of federal, state and local taxes in 1896 when the automobile was a sideshow curiosity.

Secret Mission For Navy Still Remains Mystery

NEW YORK—(INS)—Arriving as the sole passenger on the camouflaged British flying boat, Clare, Col. William J. Donovan, wartime commander of the "Fighting Sixty-Ninth," left behind him here today intense speculation on the nature of the secret mission for the navy department which had taken him abroad.

Declining to discuss any phase of his flying journey and laughing off the possibility that he had discussed turning over old U. S. warships to the British, Col. Donovan said: "I went abroad for the secretary of the navy and you'll have to ask him."

Earlier, at the Boucherville seaplane base near Montreal, he told Canadian newspapermen: "I had a job to do in London for the U. S. government and I did it."

FIND BODY OF FILM DIRECTOR

Prosecution of Morals Charge Cancelled by Death.

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Death has halted prosecution of morals charges against Film Director Gus Meins, 47, accused last Wednesday of sex offenses against six youths.

Meins was found dead in his automobile, parked in brush, yesterday. Apparently he had been dead for several days. His attorney, Joseph K. Coady, expressed the belief Meins committed suicide by inhaling carbon monoxide fumes.

Coady said Meins feared that publicity about his arrest would ruin his career even in the absence of any proof of guilt.

CONFESSION IN ATTACK CLAIMED

He was a member of the police force for 15 years, also serving as health officer.

He was affiliated with the I. O. O. F. lodge for 50 years and was a member of the Moose lodge, Brotherhood of Painters and Decorators of America, and Company L of the Ohio National Guards. Members of the Galion police force will serve as pallbearers at the funeral services.

Surviving the officer are the widow, Mrs. Laura Upson, and three sons, Dewitt M. Upson, Cleveland; Charles S. Upson, Ypsilanti, Mich., and Neville U. Upson of Galion, and five grandchildren.

Upson died from a brain concussion which resulted from a blow on his temple while directing traffic at South street and Harding Way east in Galion, Coroner O. H. Kackley said. The officer was knocked down by the blow and collapsed after attempting to get up.

Prosecutor Scanlon said his investigation showed Upson warned Smith not to drive his car after noticing that Smith was having trouble getting the car out of a parking place. Smith is said to have gotten out of the car and walked to the curb with the officer, arguing with him.

Smith told authorities he struck Upson when he thought the officer was reaching in his pocket for handcuffs. He said Upson had told him he was going to take him to jail for resisting the officer's attempt to prevent him from driving.

Police records showed Smith was arrested and fined several weeks ago for intoxication and previously had been cited for driving while intoxicated.

Upson figured in both arrests and it was believed they formed the basis for Smith's grudge.

City Telephone Company Named in Suit For $10,000

A suit to recover $10,035 in toll fees had been filed against the Mansfield Telephone company in common pleas court today by the Ohio Bell Telephone company, Cleveland.

The amount represents tolls due the plaintiff for the period from April 20, 1940, to May 20, 1940, the Bell company states in its action. The Mansfield firm has refused to pay the amount in accordance with an agreement between the companies, the plaintiff contends.

Officials of the Mansfield Telephone company declined to comment on the suit today, except to say that it was the result of a disagreement over the amount of toll due the Bell company.

The petition points out that the two firms have an agreement providing for an interchange of calls, with one of them paying the other the balance due at the end of the month. Attys C. H. Henkel and J. H. Gongwer represent the Bell company in its action.

MRS. OSWALT, 71, DIES IN HOSPITAL

Perrysville Widow Stricken; Funeral Service Tuesday.

Mrs. Isa Oswalt, 71, of Perrysville, widow of Willard Oswalt, died here Sunday afternoon at General hospital following a brief illness.

Born Jan. 7, 1869 near Butler, Mrs. Oswalt had lived near Perrysville for the past 34 years. She was a member of St. John's Lutheran church there.

Surviving are four sons, Gaylord of Loudonville, Kemp of Mansfield, Raymond of Mt. Vernon, Kermit of Perrysville; a daughter, Mrs. Hazel Blair of Mansfield; two brothers, Philip and William Cates both of Butler, five grandchildren, and two great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday at St. John's church in Perrysville with Rev. George M. Schrack officiating. Burial will be in Bunker Hill cemetery.

ENGLAND KEEPS ALERT TO PERIL

officers a handful of elderly generals whose ideas of war were described as "highly antiquated."

At the same time the civilian population surrendered its traditional August bank holiday to speed the work of providing munitions and vital war supplies.

German bombers kept up their scattered attacks on England with a series of raids during the night which, the government said, resulted in the death of one person, a few other casualties, and "negligible" damage.

Thousands of green and yellow leaflets containing extracts of Adolf Hitler's peace offer speech to the Reichstag were dropped in a northeast England town and in sections of southeast England last night.

High explosive and incendiary bombs were dropped in isolated districts in the Midlands and eastern England, a communique said.

Saturday night and Sunday morning German raiders bombed the Thames estuary, Wales and eastern Scotland, but no casualties were reported.

(A German communique said attacks had been carried out to Swansea, Wales, and on an oil harbor near Liverpool, where large fires were started.)

Military observers expressed belief that if Hitler intends to launch an attack this month it probably will come in the five days—beginning today—when the high August tides are at their peak.

It is expected that these tides, most favorable for sea-borne attack, would be accompanied by calm seas and channel fog.

Queen Elizabeth observed her 40th birthday yesterday, spending a quiet day in the country with King George and Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose. The bells of St. George's chapel at Windsor castle, which for centuries have rung in honor of royal birthdays, remained silent—stilled by an order that church bells may be rung only to warn of invasion.

"The Williamson Heater Company:

We find our home is much easier to heat since we had the Williamson Tripl-ife furnace installed. We used less coal than other years, and the fire kept longer—that is, we didn't have to go to the basement to fire up as often as we did with the old furnace. We are glad we chose a Williamson Tripl-ife for I'm sure we got the best for our money invested. We would recommend this furnace to anyone."

Roosevelt Calls for Laws Against Fifth Columnists

ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS OF STATES MEET

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt today sent word directly to law enforcement officials of the 48 states calling for joint federal-state laws to defend the nation against subversive activities, sedition and sabotage.

His message was read to state law enforcement heads by Attorney General Robert H. Jackson at the opening session of the justice department's federal-state conference on law enforcement problems of national defense.

Mr. Roosevelt first of all asserted there could be no "political considerations" injected into the problem of national defense, and then carefully cautioned federal and state legal experts against "prejudiced and emotional haste," which he said characterized much of the anti-sedition law of the World war.

"The federal government must not and will not dictate to the states what procedure they should pursue," the president said at the outset of his message. "The sovereign prerogatives of the states are fully admitted; they have invited us to discuss with them problems common to both. Some can best be left entirely to the states. Registration of aliens, for instance, would seem definitely to be a matter exclusively for federal control.

"In other fields state or local action is clearly indicated. But there are many policies where joint control can be effectively worked out. I have in mind, as an example, the enactment by congress and the state legislatures of laws dealing with subversive activities, with seditious acts, with those things which slow up or break down our common defense program. These mutual objectives can be reached by carefully considered legislation, free from the prejudice and emotional haste which characterized much of similar legislation during the last World war."

The president then explained that all information relating to subversive activities was being channeled into the justice department's federal bureau of investigation in the interest of efficiency and singleness of treatment. He said that common defense should be conducted through normal channels of local, state and national law enforcement. Mr. Roosevelt warned:

"The untrained policeman is as ineffective as the untrained soldier. The amateur detective soon becomes a fussy and malicious busybody. We must be vigilant, always on guard, and swift to act. But we must also be wise and cool headed, and must not express our activities in the cruel stupidities of the vigilante. There is where the fifth columns form the line."

Concluding Mr. Roosevelt expressed the hope that the conference opening today would be the first of many similar exchanges of viewpoint between federal, state and local law enforcement heads.

He added:

"Concrete and immediate results canot be expected. But the problems can be more clearly seen by looking at them steadily and together; and techniques of future cooperation can be adopted."

Federal officials hoped that the meetings starting today would produce closed cooperation between federal and state officers in rounding up spies and saboteurs and in building the framework for a national unified program designed to bulwark the country against enemies from within.

drivers. Any car not passing the inspection will be released to its owner early Tuesday morning to allow him to make necessary changes.

Among the group with cars at the inspection today are "Buck" Miller of Shelby and Robert Ross of Plymouth. These two lads recently won the right to take part in the classic by winning derbies in their respective cities.

Derby cars will be transported to the site of the race at 2 p. m. Wednesday when a parade will be staged down Derby hill. The first heat will swing into action at 2:30 p. m. sharp, Cram said today.

Mansfielders not having a way to reach Derby hill may board a Greyhound bus at Central park at 1:15, 1:45 and 2:15. The bus will take passengers direct to the starting line and will return immediately after the final race. A fare of 25 cents will be charged for the round trip.

The list of prizes which will be awarded the heat winners and champions will be announced in Tuesday's News-Journal. The list is one of the largest ever given for the Derby.

State highway patrolmen will detour through traffic over the old Windsor road starting at 1 p. m. Wednesday.

Free Methodists Open Conference At Camp Grounds

The 62nd annual conference of the Free Methodist church of Ohio will open at 2 p. m. tomorrow in conjunction with the church's annual camp meetings now in progress on the camp grounds, one mile east of Mansfield on route 39.

Several hundred delegates and visitors from throughout the state are expected to attend the conference which will be in charge of Bishop L. R. Marston of Greenville, Ill.

Appointment of pastors for the coming year will be read during Saturday's session.

Evangelistic services which have been held nightly since the meetings opened last Tuesday will continue through Sunday, final day of the meetings, with Rev. R. B. Maxwell of Caldwell, O. as the speaker. Services begin at 8 p. m.

Yesterday's services were attended by large crowds. More than 600 prsons are camping on the grounds for the duration of the conference.

MUSICAL RECITAL PLANNED AT BELLVILLE CHURCH TOMORROW

BELLVILLE— Virginia Myers, piano student of Mrs. Maurice Horn and Donald Palm, bass voice student of Albert Arnold, will appear at the Presbyterian church in recital at 8:15 p. m. Tuesday evening.

Miss Myers is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Myers. She has won twice in the state contests of the Junior Federation of Music clubs.

Palm, also a state music contest winner, will be accompanied by Martha Palm.

The program will open with the piano selections "Three Voice Invention, E Major" by Bach, "Nocturne, E flat major" and "Valse" by Chopin. Donald will then sing "My Home Is a Trailer" by O'Hara and "Light" by Heidlinger.

For her second selection Miss Myers will play the adagio, allegretto and presto movements of "Moonlight Sonata" by Beethoven. Continuing Palm will sing "The Blind Ploughman" by Clarke and "From India" by Harriet Ware.

Miss Myers will conclude with "Rolling Billows" by Orth, "Etude Comique" by Wright and "Reflets Dans L'Eau" by Zeckwer.

LODGE PROTEST ON SUPERVISOR

Workers Alliance Committee Complains to WPA Over Fourth Street Job.

A Richland county Workers Alliance committee headed by John Sparks, president of the county organization, had protested to the state WPA office today against the sending of a supervisor from out of the city to handle the West Fourth street paving project.

The committee also complained that the supervisor, whose name was not available, had ignored WPA job stewards and refused to let workers have sufficient time to wash up and leave the job.

"We are not trying to dictate to any supervisor, but we ask that the supervisor recognize our job stewards and we will not tolerate any supervisor or foreman coming from another city and disregarding WPA rules," Sparks said.

He added that the Alliance, an organization of WPA workers, would ask for removal of the supervisor on the paving job "if conditions are not corrected."

Job stewards are named by the Alliance as representatives of WPA workers in settling complaints with WPA officials and job supervisors.

The Alliance also asked that some WPA "white collar" jobs be provided in the county and that women workers who were thrown out of jobs when the roof drainage project closed be transferred to the county sewing center, sponsored jointly by the county and WPA.

Find Dazed Girl Wandering Along Road At Dawning

YOUNGSTOWN—(AP)—An attractive girl, aged about 20, was found wandering, dazed, along route 18 about 10 miles west of here about 2:20 a. m. today.

Taken to St. Elizabeth's hospital for observation and treatment, she told deputy sheriffs she could not remember her name or where she came from.

The girl said she was walking on a street, "somewhere," when a man and a woman offered her a ride. After accepting a stick of gum from them, she related, she could remember nothing else. The only mark of identification was a ring with the inscription "Stow, 1934" and bearing the initials "D. M. Y." Summit county authorities have no report of a missing Stow girl.

THREE HURT AS AREA ESCAPES MAJOR MISHAPS

Traffic and Drowning Take Toll of 20 Lives in Ohio Over Week-End.

Mansfield and the surrounding area escaped without any serious traffic accidents over the week-end, although three persons were injured in three minor accidents reported in this vicinity, while in Ohio there were at least 20 traffic deaths and drownings.

A Mt. Vernon driver was cited to appear in municipal court here on Wednesday when he failed to stop after an accident in which he was involved. This was one of six arrests on traffic violation charges by city police and state highway patrolmen.

He is Chester Matheny, 28, charged with failing to stop after an accident, when his car and one driven by Ralph Butler of Mansfield, collided four miles south of Mansfield on route 13, yesterday afternoon. There were no injuries, highway patrolmen reported.

Edwin C. Hoelzer, 38, of Youngstown, sustained a fractured nose and face lacerations and body bruises, at 6:15 p. m. Saturday when an automobile driven by his wife, struck a tree on route 30-N, east of Crestline. Highway patrolmen said Mrs. Hoelzer lost control of the car when it skidded on some oil on the highway. Mrs. Hoelzer was not injured.

Two men received treatment at Samaritan hospital in Ashland Saturday night for injuries sustained when the car in which they were riding left the road and overturned near Ashland at 11 p. m. They are James Kennedy, 45, North Canton, driver, who suffered a broken collarbone, and Albert Krebs, 54, of Loudonville, a passenger, who received face lacerations.

Others arrested on traffic violations charges are William Peebles, Delaware, who was cited to appear before Justice of Peace R. R. Teeters of Ashland on Aug. 10 on charges of unsafe driving. He was arrested on route 42, near Ashland, by highway patrolmen yesterday.

Arrested by city police on charges of speeding, Howard N. Sprague, 29, R. D. 4, and James R. McGreahy, Ashland, were each fined $10 and costs when arraigned in municipal court this morning. Both pleaded guilty. Robert Harvey, 23, of 112 North Adams street, arrested Saturday night on charges of failure to stop for a stop sign at the junction of U. S. route 30-S and 181, was fined $5 and costs in municipal court.

Samuel E. Carmoney, 26, of Ashland, was fined $25 and costs when he pleaded guilty to charges of driving an overweighted truck on a state highway. He was arrested Saturday night by state patrolmen.

UNEASY LIES HEAD ON RAIL

Disturbed By Locomotive Pounding Pillow.

LAURINBURG, N. C.— (AP) — Nelson McLaurin thought he'd had a nightmare when he regained consciousness.

McLaurin lay down on the railroad tracks, near the station, for a nap between trains. He overslept. A train knocked him clear of the steel rail he was using as a pillow.

He was not seriously injured.

referred the request to the committee as a means of raising $57,000 annually for the fire, police, parks, recreation and airport.

He has suggested after meetings with the various department heads that the funds be earmarked giving $17,000 to the fire department for new equipment and four additional men; $10,000 to the police department for four additional patrolmen and new radio equipment; $10,000 annually for supervised playgrounds, $5000 for improvement at the airport, and $7,500 for park improvements.

Also to be acted upon will be numerous ordinances authorizing street improvements, several transfer of funds and supplemental appropriations in the water and street departments.

Included in the flood of petitions and claims on file with Council Clerk William J Beer jr., are a score of petty claims from the water-in-the-basement problem.

LEADERS ARGUE OVER BRITISH AID AND DRAFT

Pershing Urges Destroyers Be Sent to Britain as Lindy Talks Peace.

the defenses of both are reasonably strong."

America should rearm "fully" for its defense, Lindbergh said, and should "never make the type of treaty that would lay us open to invasion if it were broken.

"But if we refuse to consider treaties with the dominant nation of Europe, regardless of what that may be, we remove all possibility of peace. Nothing is to be gained by shouting names and pointing the finger of blame across the ocean" " ".

Secretary Knox of the navy headed a radio symposium for conscription arranged by the military training camps association. He said:

"In the past we have resorted to compulsory service whenever the nation was threatened. Today we cannot wait until war is upon us. It will be too late."

Assistant Secretary Patterson of the war department called for an army of 1,300,000 men, declaring that conscription was the only certain way of getting them. A third speaker on the program, Col. Julius Ochs Adler of New York, civilian aide to the war secretary, counselled:

"Train without fighting now, or fight without training later."

At the Chicago peace rally, on the other hand, Senator McCarran (D-Nev.) termed conscription proposals "undemocratic and unnecessary."

Speaking in a radio forum from Washington, Rep. Fish (R-N. Y.) said conscription would create a huge military machine "that would devour our free institutions and destroy our constitutional and republican form of government."

Senator Hill (D-Ala.), however, called conscription the only "democratic, orderly, systematic, efficient and scientific way" to raise the necessary army. Senator Lee (D-Okla.) joined him in advocating prompt enactment of the administration's defense program.

Senator Nye (R-N.D.), another speaker, said the administration should "quit this most un-American insistence for peacetime conscription which can, under existing circumstances, be construed so easily and readily as of political origin exclusively."

Finds Support For Draft Delay

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Rep. Robert T. Secrest, (D., O.), reported today he had found "substantial" sentiment in the house for his proposal to defer compulsory military training pending an attempt to fill army quotas through voluntary one-year enlistments.

The Secrest measure would reduce the enlistment period from three years to one and would raise the base army pay for men in the ranks from $21 to $30 monthly. That pay would be equal to payments made to CCC enrollees.

Secrest modified one section of the bill to meet objections raised when he offered it before the house military affairs committee. An amendment would give the war department the right to reject volunteers occupying jobs important to the industrial defense program.

ILL 3 YEARS, STRICKEN TODAY

Curtis W. Fletcher, 68, Dies in Columbus Hospital.

FREDERICKTOWN—Curtis W. Fletcher, 68, of near here, died early today at a Columbus hospital where he had been a patient for the past three years.

He is survived by his widow Alta; four children, Mildred of Cleveland, Paul of Mansfield, Mrs. Thelma Shira of Danville and Mrs. Gertrude Chambers of Ashland; a brother, Scott of Mt. Vernon, 20 grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

The body was removed to the Meredith funeral home here where services will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday with Rev. Adam Bausman, pastor of the Baptist church, officiating. Burial will be in Amity cemetery.

MASS MURDERS SCARE STENOG

Heads, Legs, Torsos Just Mannequin Members.

PORTLAND, Ore. — (AP) — A stenographer glanced from her office window and saw a head on a roof across the street. She blinked, looked again. The head had disappeared.

A leg replaced it. The stenographer ran for a drink of water; summoned courage to look again. The leg was gone but an entire torso had appeared.

Investigators found department store employes repainting mannequins.

DEATH CLOSES SUCCESS STORY

Father of Helen Jepson, Opera Singer, Dies.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Death wrote the conclusion today to the success story of a choir singer who made his daughter an opera star.

Jepson was an exceptionally fine singer. A member of the choir of Highland Congregational church, his greatest interest was his daughter's career.

The climax of his success story came when he attended Miss Jepson's debut with the "Met," singing "In the Pasha Garden" with Lawrence Tibbett.

HOW TO GET

A $100 LOAN

WITHOUT ENDORSERS

You can borrow $100 if you can pay back $4.46 a month—See table for other loan plans—No credit questions asked of friends or relatives—Quick, friendly service.

YOU can get a personal loan —without red tape or delay —if you can repay in small monthly installments. All you do to apply for a loan at Household is to acquaint us with your problem. You need no bankable security—no endorsers or guarantors.

You may repay your loan on any of the schedules shown in the table below. Thus you may choose the payment plan which best fits your own needs and income.

Payments to fit your purse

Suppose that you need a $100 loan. You find this amount in the first column of the table. Then read across picking out the monthly payment which you wish to make. You will see, for instance, that monthly installments of $9.46 each will repay a $100 loan in full in twelve months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $4.46 a month for thirty months will also repay a $100 loan.

You will note that the sooner you repay the less your loan costs. Four monthly installments of $26.26 each, or a total of only $105.04, for instance, will repay a $100 loan in full.

Same rate to everyone

Installments shown in the table repay everything. These installments include charges at Household's rate of 2% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $300, and ½% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $300. This rate is substantially less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law. Household has only this one rate —the same for everyone, whether new customer or former borrower.

Simple to borrow

You get your Household Finance loan in a simple, private transaction. We require no stocks or bonds. (Loans are made on furniture, car or note.) You are spared the embarrassment of asking friends or fellow-workers to sign the loan papers with you. And no questions regarding your credit are asked of friends or relatives.

Considerate treatment

You may expect every consideration in case of sickness or unemployment while paying on a Household Finance loan. Last year we foreclosed on only one chattel mortgage for each 20,000 loans. This action was taken only as protection against fraud.

If a loan can help you, phone or visit us for further information. No obligation.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO MONDAY, AUGUST 5, 1940

Nature wisely made it difficult for a man to pat himself on the back.

Word comes from the larger cities that some of the young folks are already regarding slacks as entirely too formal.

Robert Quillen is out with a modern definition of a hick town: "A place where a lady caller must not sit down if there is nobody at home but the man."

Continuous Nazi Propaganda

H. V. KALTENBORN, news commentator, warns Americans of intensified German propaganda. The Nazis are now working their short wave transmitters on a 24-hour schedule. Don't underestimate their skill at this sort of thing, he says.

He finds these programs "a clever mixture of half truths" and material considerably less than half truthful. Better not believe anything, he advises, until it has been proved.

Perhaps more dangerous than misstatements which arouse a certain skepticism is the way they are threaded through bits of pleasant music. The impression is conveyed that all is cheerful and constructive within the area controlled by a greatly misunderstood Reich.

Some Americans find it hard to believe that other Americans are still taken in by such stuff, but there may be many people with whom it is effective. Warning them of the danger of believing all they hear is for their good as much as anyone's.

No Barriers at Northern Border

CANADIAN newspapers are still busy explaining that the war in which Canada is engaged is not interfering at all with the usual vacation facilities offered by that country. Also that the Dominion needs this pleasant form of trade more than ever, because of the very heavy military expenses now necessary, and because the American tourist traffic has fallen off so markedly. American vacationers who have gone there as usual corroborate such statements.

There is no reason, of course, why Americans who prefer to spend their summer holidays in their own country this year should not do so. For many it will be a good thing. Every American should know America first. But as between visiting friendly and congenial Canadian neighbors and staying at home for fear of complications, such a choice is unnecessary.

Morbid Curiosity Needs Control

ANY unusual occurrence—accident, fire, or whatever it may be—has the effect of quickly attracting a crowd of curious spectators.

This trait was strongly in evidence just after the railway disaster in Cuyahoga Falls last week, when, according to news reports, thousands of persons "jammed the scene, clogged highways and fought with police, firemen and state highway patrolmen for a look at the disaster."

It was a horrifying spectacle, according to those engaged in taking bodies from the wreckage, but morbid curiosity impelled thousands of presumably normal men and women to impede the work of firemen and officers in an effort to "see what had happened."

Curiosity is a universal human trait, but it needs control and direction to be kept within the bounds of decency and judgment. Control of curiosity is something that children should be taught—by example as well as precept.

Sensible Suggestion

JOHN C. RIEDEL, engineer and member of the planning commission of New York City, is urging that metropolis to decentralize.

"The working people of New York are a harried group, rushing and jamming their way to centers of employment in the morning and repeating the process in the afternoon. They need a happier, more sensible mode of living. Industries should be located in different parts of the city with adequate room for workmen to live near by. If business organizations would spread out instead of piling up on Manhattan Island, they could not only do away with the transportation problem for their employes but would permit their workers to live in more healthful surroundings."

The truth of this criticism is being borne in upon dwellers of many cities smaller than New York but with much the same problems. Why, after all, have slums? Why not spread out and be comfortable? With all the pleasant vacant space in this country, it seems silly to cramp folks up till they can scarcely breathe.

Tragic End of Vacation Trip

THE tragic ending of a pleasant vacation trip, which brought death to Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Horchler, well-known Mansfield young people, in a traffic accident in Illinois, was a shock to this entire community, especially to friends and acquaintances of the families involved.

The sad circumstance of the two young children who were anxiously awaiting the return of Mother and Dad after what had seemed a long absence was one of those elements of tragedy which adds poignancy to the grief of those in the immediate relationship.

The sympathy of countless friends is extended to the bereaved parents of these fine young people, and to the others in their family circle, in this time of sorrow.

Hollanders Annoying Huns

RECENT occurrences in Holland indicate that a nation with a sense of humor is not so easily beaten as Hitler and his invading hordes expected. It can be held down temporarily by superior military force, but it soon bounces up in unexpected places.

A new order has gone forth in Holland. No one may cross the bridges over the Maas river after 6 p.m. Why? Because the calm and placid Netherlanders whose lives and liberties are being preserved by the benevolent Nazi occupation have been quietly throwing Nazi sentries into the river as they go by.

When English bombs destroyed for a second time a bridge in Rotterdam which the Germans had taken more than a week to repair, crowds stood along the river cheering.

On Prince Bernhard's birthday it was forbidden to fly the Netherlands flag or to wear orange ribbons. Crowds gathered in front of the royal palace at The Hague to sign a letter of congratulation to the prince. German soldiers dispersed the crowds but they gathered again immediately afterward.

These and other details were brought to England by two Dutch boys who made the journey from Holland across the North sea in a rowboat.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Johnny, you'd better be looking for your gun.

If you are an able-bodied male, between 21 and 31, without dependents and not working in a key position in some defense industry, you are going to need it.

That is the way the thing looks now, although I have pointed out before that the compulsory military service bill is in for a battle before it clears the senate and house and is signed by the president. A law in some form it will become, certainly—the only time that any sort of compulsory military service has become operative in the United States during peace time.

The way the bill looks at this writing, about 12,000,000 young men are going to register with their respective draft boards sometime in September. Within a month, 400,000 will be told to report for military training, and although some will have legitimate excuses which will exempt them, the rest can take it and like it . . . or go to jail.

* * *

We Need a Big Stick.

THE reason for the bill—and a majority of the folks back home seem to agree that the reason is adequate—is primarily that we were caught without a navy adequate to defend both oceans. Not having a navy that can take care of the Atlantic as well as the Pacific (best estimates are that it will be 1947 before we can reach that state of preparedness), the idea is that we must have an army which will scare the pants off anybody.

Opponents of the bill aren't arguing that we don't need the army . . . they're just claiming that we can get enough men by enlistment. The army people, having been through all that before, say it can't be done, despite recent enlistments of about a thousand a day. They claim, and history backs them up, that shortly this voluntary business will reach the saturation point and they'll have days when nobody comes in and says "I wanna be a sojer."

Of the estimated 12,000,000 men between 21 and 31, one out of 30 will be called to the colors for 12 months' service, around the last of September. The idea is to call 400,000 more men come spring, and 600,000 more in the fall of 1941.

The bill states as strongly as congress can that all should be given their jobs back when they return from duty. In the case of business not involved in interstate commerce, all congress can do is urge.

* * *

You Can Sit It Out, Too.

EXEMPTIONS will include men employed in agriculture or other occupations necessary to national health, safety or interest; men with dependents, and men mentally, physically or morally unfit.

Selection will be made by lottery. "Draft dodgers" (men filing false returns) will be subject to five years in the hoosegow or $10,000 fine.

It's called the Burke-Wadsworth bill and the White House hasn't given its official nod to the measure. It may not go through but whether this one does or doesn't, Johnny, you'll get your gun. Unless, of course, a Spitfire should squat in the lap of Hitler, Mussolini, Stalin & Co. (the & Co. being mostly Japan's war party) . . . in which event I guess, Johnny, we could just go on about our business.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Thursday, August 5, 1920.

"Troops May Cross Into Mexico at Any Moment," was headline.

Dinner party was given at Country club for Miss Helen Simpson, of Philadelphia, former Mansfield resident.

Mrs. George F. Race, 73, died.

Mrs. P. C. Lehnhart, south of Mansfield, was surprised by friends on birthday anniversary.

Mrs. Fred Hatzelman, 61, died.

Bryant Washburn in "Too Much Johnson" was screen attraction at Majestic.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Monday, August 5, 1935.

Miss Cora Terry, 74 Park avenue west, and John Graf, 101 West Dickson avenue, were married at St. Peter's Catholic church.

Mrs. James Feeney, 72, 220 South Mulberry street, suffered a fractured right wrist in a fall down stairs in her home.

Daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Homer Williams, Lexington.

Mrs. Ruth Spencer Beckmann was named as an outstanding woman in hall of fame book, American Women.

Charles West took office as under secretary of the interior at Washington.

TODAY IN HISTORY

The Battle of Mobile Bay took place on Aug. 5, 1864. Admiral Farragut was in command of the Union fleet. The Confederate flagship Tennessee surrendered after a brave and bold battle.

Many Democrats Turn to Willkie

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

SIZING up the political situation, as it appears in Washington, as the presidential campaign opens, it's ceased to be satisfactory to refer to Republicans and Democrats. Politicians classify rather as Willkieites and Rooseveltians.

GARNER

The Willkieites include quite an infusion of bolting Democrats. The Rooseveltians are adding no bolting Republicans to their organization, because no Republicans are bolting. Hard onto eight years ago a few Republicans did desert the G. O. P. to become Rooseveltians. Henry A. Wallace was such a seceder. Harold L. Ickes originally was a Republican, then a Progressive, finally a Rooseveltian. Senator George W. Norris, originally a Republican, became a Rooseveltian after a period of incubation as an Independent.

Parenthetically, back in 1928 Senator Norris made a strong speech in opposition to presidential third terms—said they'd lead us into a monarchy. He seems to have changed his mind since then.

But all that was quite awhile ago. Today no Republicans (mighty few of them, anyway) are flopping over to Roosevelt-ism. It's the Democrats who are flopping over into Willkieites.

A flop by Democrats like Al Smith, John Raskob and Jouett Shouse, perhaps doesn't amount to much. They weren't Roosevelt-ians any of the time. Maybe Senator Edward R. Burke's flop wasn't very significant, since he already had been beaten for renomination. Lewis W. Douglas' and John W. Hanes' flops counted, however; they were former Roosevelt-ian office holders and presumably were New Dealers.

All One Way.

That is to say, the original Republicans are. The flopping Democrats are less cheerful than they are grimly determined. They're not particularly happy at the thought of a so-called Republican's election to the White House, but they're hopeful at least of licking the Roosevelt-ians.

The Roosevelt-ians don't admit it, but they're mostly considerably worried. Chaps with the New Deal enthusiasm of Ickes, Harry Hopkins and Lowell Mellett are still so rejoiced over having succeeded with their third term program that their exuberance hasn't worn off yet, but less optimistic members of their group regard the outlook, not gloomily, but as involving a hard fight ahead.

That the epidemic of floppings is as general throughout the country as it has been in Washington are among quite an assortment of Democratic nobilities elsewhere can't be determined, of course, until election day.

Wall Street, it appears, is offering small odds in Roosevelt's favor, but in Washington, at the National Press club which represents every corner of the United States, through the news correspondents' corps, the best that's offered is 50-50.

Garner's Departure.

The capital, among other things, witnessed Vice President John N. Garner's sad departure, with his wife, for Texas, presumably never to return to the District of Columbia.

The correspondents calculate that that incident will have its impression on the voters.

And retiring James A. Farley? He was 100 per cent popular with the newspapermen.

Ex-Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, anti-Roosevelt-ian organizer, also is reckoned with as an important factor.

Maybe the Roosevelt-ians will fire up more shortly, but, in comparison with the Willkieites they're a trifle slow in getting started.

Health and Diet

Exercise After Age of Fifty.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE advantage of exercise in the form of games is not alone that it develops the muscles of the body. They get you out in the open air, they develop the eye, the ear, the equilibrium, the poise of the body—the senses and complicated nervous reactions as well as the muscles.

More they have a psychological effect. You can't play any games I know about unless you concentrate, and that means you forget your business, your domestic worries, your girl, your dyspepsia and the war. When King James got in trouble with the new game of "gowff," about 1457, because his ball got in a hole, and decided he would lick the game, he was lost to the Scottish people and their interests some say forever.

Golf and tennis are antagonistic sports. The tennis player must keep his eye on the ball in flight. The golfer keeps his eye on the ball—at least theoretically—while it is lying on the ground in front of him. When it takes flight—if it does—he is taught, in fact begged, not to watch it but to keep looking at the place where it was.

Golf or Tennis After Fifty.

It is advisable, therefore, not to try to play both games at the same time. Few athletes have concentration enough to play both well. This is a good thing in age differences. I am speaking now of the average not the professional athlete. I know the Scotch verdict, the one about the tyke who started golf too old, he was four when he began. Over 45 if you really like tennis you needn't stop playing it but play for recreation not competition.

I suppose theoretically you should have a physical examination before you are advised you can play golf or tennis after fifty but I don't know. I would disregard medical advice in this. Life was given to us to live to the fullest. What if you have a little high blood pressure or a little heart murmur. (Unlike garlic there is such a thing as a little heart murmur.) Let's have fun. We may die on the barricades not of albuminuria.

We are asked for information on a book which will describe the different muscles of the body, the idea being to be able to develop the proper ones for the sport in question. "An Anatomical Analysis of Sports," by Gertrude Hawley (A. S. Barnes, 1940), fills the bill for this kind of information. It describes the joints and muscles used in baseball, basketball, horseback riding, golf, swimming, tennis, skating and track athletics.

Whether the idea that certain groups of muscles should be developed for any particular sport is, however, debatable both from the viewpoint of physiology and with the idea of becoming expert in the sport. The value of such exercises and games as have been mentioned above is that they develop the whole body—all the muscles. In this they differ from the monotonous bedroom exercises, which develop only the arms, shoulders, legs, abdomen, etc. If the tennis or golf aspirant decides to develop one set of muscles he may become muscle bound and spoil rather than improve his game.

One-Minute Test Answers.

1. No definite time, but a whole body of individuals born about the same time is called a generation.
2. It was established by the Versailles treaty and grew out of President Wilson's 14 points for peace.
3. From the Italian word "novella," meaning "tale."

Timely Editorial

He Was An Alien.

He was born in Copenhagen 61 years ago and his first job was putting bicycles together in his native Denmark. At the age of 20, he came to the United States, where he began work in a shipyard. Locomotive repairman, mill stockroom keeper, automobile assembly foreman, Ford production manager, president of Chevrolet, head of General Motors, now chairman of the national defense commission—the steps in William S. Knudsen's climb to fame are known to all Americans now.

But the point is that he was born abroad, came to this country as an immigrant and lived here as an alien for some 15 years before becoming an American citizen.

There should be in this record something to give pause to those excited patriots, in congress and out, who are bent on harassing all aliens and perhaps turning many of them against the United States with unwise, discriminating requirements. Better by far a nation-wide campaign, to assist aliens on the road to American citizenship.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—The British have done an excellent job of rooting out Fifth Column elements and preventing a repetition of what happened in Norway and the Lowlands. But how hard this is to do was indicated by an uncensored report just received here that as early as July 1 German parachute troops were being landed.

Four were nabbed that day in north Wales. They were not ordinary soldiers. Attired as hikers, they spoke perfect English, carried genuine English registration cards, which could have come only from British sources, and apparently had specific instructions whom to contact.

One of the spies, before being apprehended, telephoned a man who later was discovered to be a Fifth Columnist. The purpose of the parachutists was to get in touch with individuals in England who would furnish them with information and help to undermine resistance against invasion.

It was also learned from the capture of these men that Fifth Columnist fishermen in the region were servicing a Nazi submarine.

Military Training.

THE ARMY is up against a much tougher task than most people realize in getting ready for compulsory military training or for the special call of the National Guard.

The main problem is housing such a large number of men. To do this takes time. It takes time to construct barracks, to put in sewerage, to bring in water supplies. As much as possible of this work must be done before bad weather sets in.

This is why the war department is so impatient over the delay in congress. If the legislation finally passes, then the army can begin letting contracts. But until then not one order can be placed for barracks or anything else.

All the plans are ready on paper, and the army has scarcely overlooked a detail in these advance preparations. But that is as far as it can go.

Another handicap is the fact that the National Guard this month is conducting its most important maneuvers in history. And if congress grants Roosevelt's request to permit him to call out the Guard for a year's training, it will be necessary to send the men back into the field.

This doubles the cost of transportation. If congress had acted earlier it might have been avoided.

* * *

Who's Kidding Whom?

GENIAL, barren-beaned Senator Burke, anti-New Deal Nebraska Democrat, is an enthusiastic jester, but the big question among his colleagues is: Just who is Burke kidding regarding his plan to stage public hearings on the third term issue.

Burke has set the hearings for Aug. 12. The excuse is to hear arguments on his constitutional amendment to limit presidential terms to one six-year period. But the private records of the senate judiciary committee, of which Burke is a member, disclose that he has no authority to hold such proceedings. Here is the inside story of his mysterious move:

It was way back in January, 1939, that Burke introduced the proposal. A few days later he was made chairman of a subcommittee to consider an anti-third term bill and report on it to the full committee.

The subcommittee made a report in July, 1939—just one year ago—recommending that the measure be sent to the senate without recommendation: that is, the subcommittee ducked taking any stand. In keeping with long practice in cases like this, the full committee thereupon shelved the bill and forgot all about it.

As far as this congress is concerned, the bill is as dead as a dried mackerel. There isn't the remotest chance of its being considered.

Burke knows this, just as he knows that his subcommittee no longer has any jurisdiction over the bill. It relinquished jurisdiction when it reported to the full committee more than a year ago. Adding a dash of piquancy is the fact that Burke himself is just as much a lame duck as his bill, having been defeated for renomination several months ago.

All of which adds up to the following: A lame duck senator proposes to use a dead bill over which he no longer has any jurisdiction to stage a series of hearings at public expense to boost a political candidate.

Meanwhile Democratic senators are betting that the trick won't come off. Burke isn't that good.

* * *

Capital Chaff.

INSIDE FACT about Henri Haye, new French ambassador to the United States, is that no one is very enthusiastic about his appointment. His chief claim to fame is as mayor of Versailles and as a great friend of Elsie deWolf and Anne Morgan. He has been angling for the job as ambassador to the U. S. A. for some time. . . . Count de Saint Quentin, who now retires as ambassador, was a sincere believer in democracy and not in sympathy with the semi-Fascist Petain government, though he carried out its order. . . . Friends of Senator Burke say he has the promise of a high place in the next Republican administration, if Willkie wins. . . . One thing to remember about the German-British air situation is that the Nazis so far have made almost no raids at night. They have been sending their men over England in the daytime apparently to spot strategic points and get them familiar with the terrain. . . . The British, on the other hand, have been raiding Germany at night. Night-flying over England will be much easier for the Nazis because they have less distance to travel. So the real punishment will begin when the Nazis start raiding England at night. . . . The German-American National Alliance in Chicago has set out to purge all Illinois congressmen who are friendly to Great Britain.

A Farmer's Diary

Memories of Fly Time

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

SIXTY or seventy years ago screened windows were a luxury that even well-to-do farmers did not have. Swarms of flies were considered a necessary nuisance of summertime, no more to be regretted or feared than other "healthy dirt." A lullaby in an old reader ran like this:

"Baby bye, here's a fly—
Let us watch him, you and I.
How he goes, on his toes.
Tickling baby's nose!"

Strings of apples were dried on the rafters of the summer kitchen where they were blackened by smoke and flies. In winter, children ate handfuls of them, without cooking. The wonder is that so many children survived. Horse barns were common, even in cities. Manure piles and stables were unscreened, fly spray unknown. Epidemics of typhoid swept the country. The death rate was high. A watcher sat beside the sick bed in a half-dark room, fly brush in hand, keeping flies off a typhoid patient.

I remember our home made fly brush—a tough paper flour sack cut in strips and tacked to a stick. The blue lining furnished a bit of vivid color as it was swished back and forth above the dining table or flourished about the door to scatter flies collected upon the screen.

Then sticky paper! Those typewriter size sheets, spread with yellow glue, that were laid wherever flies were wont to light. Many an unsuspecting farmer, feeling for a match, put his heavy hand upon such a sheet, and swore. I knew a boy who sat down on a sheet of it—and numerous cats and dogs that became entangled and were gone from home for a week!

Fly traps were next. Those round screenwire boxes with a funnel below where flies crawled through a tiny hole in search of sugary bait and did not have sense enough to walk out again. It was the duty of small farm boys to kill the flies and empty the traps when they were full. Drowning was a messy way. It was easier to dust them with flour so they wouldn't use their wings and empty them to the chickens.

About all that is left of such ancient fly snares now is a mere sticky ribbon, suspended from the kitchen ceiling, whereon such insects as get involved may while away their remaining hours. Modern farm homes are screened; toilets and manure piles are screened or chemically treated; every self-respecting cow has fly spray with her rations.

Fly time, thanks to science and education, is not what it used to be.

CHAPTER IX

"What is it, Sis? What is it?" Bill Marsh implored. "Do they want their money back? Do they?"

"No, Bill, no!" Marilyn found her voice again. "I can't believe it. Bill, it can't be true. It just can't. Pinch me, Bill—"

"What can't be true? Why should I pinch you? Hey, Sis, stop acting like you're goofy. I brought you the letter, didn't I? Seems like you could tell me what's in it."

"Bill," Marilyn put her arm around her brother's shoulder looked straight into his eyes, "can you keep a secret?"

"Sure I can keep a secret? I'm a boy, ain't I? Boys don't blab like girls do."

"Then listen. The Glarco company is offering me a position. A position on their promotion staff."

"What's a promotion staff?"

"It's—telling people about Glarco, how good it is, why they should buy it—make them want to buy it. Sort of like advertising."

"You mean they want you to work for them, not just write another jingle—work every day in their office?"

"Yes, Bill, in their office in New York."

"But Sis, you won't do it, will you? You won't go away from Millville and leave me, leave Mums and Dad, and the house all fixed up like it was a new house, just when things are going along swell for us—"

"I don't know," Marilyn's gaze was fixed on far horizons. "I don't know. It's all so sudden — so breath-taking, but don't you worry, Bill, you and I are going to be pals, always. Nothing can change that."

"You bet your boots it won't. But gee, Sis—"

"Pals don't 'gee' their pals. Here comes a customer. I must get busy. See you at supper. And remember, I have your promise. This is our secret."

"You could skin me alive and I wouldn't snitch. 'Bye Sis. Make it snappy getting home. Apple dumplings for supper."

* * *

Marilyn, hurrying toward the shabby gray house now turning into a spotless ivory, thought, "It's incredible. A few lines can change a person's whole life."

Passages of the letter danced before her in the late afternoon sun. "Your completion of our jingle showed originality, sales sense and liveness, and we believe you have possibilities which might prove useful in our promotion department. Such, for example, as originating slogans and catch lines. We have decided to offer you a position on our staff, and the opportunity of advancement should make it desirable. We hereby extend you an invitation to join our staff at a salary of fifty dollars a week ($50), the company to pay all expenses of your move to New York. Please let us know your decision at your earliest convenience—"

Fifty dollars a week! Why that was more than the teller of the Millville bank earned, more than the manager of the Bon Ton earned, more than she, Marilyn, had dreamed she could earn in a month—two months, even after she finished her new course at the academy.

Entering the half-gray, half-ivory house, she felt an air of depression. She was the more sensitive to it by reason of the contrast to her own exultant spirit. She found her mother in the kitchen, sitting by the table, rocking back and forth nervously.

"Baby," she moaned, "I thought you'd never come. It's Clara. They telephoned from New York—that young man from the theater—Al, she called him. He wants that we should get Clara to come home, or else we should come to New York and take charge of her. That's what he said, 'Take charge.' He said for you to call him at the Metropole Amusement company—I wrote down the number—and to reverse the charge. Call him, Baby. Call him. Oh my poor little girl, my poor Clara—"

* * *

"New York calling Miss Marilyn Marsh — Miss Marsh — all right New York."

Marilyn's heart was behaving like a trap drum.

"Hello. Hello, H. B. Stands for Heartbeat, in case you've forgotten. Are you listenin'?"

"Hello, Al." It was good to hear the familiar patter that was Al's idea of humor. His news couldn't be so bad if he could adopt this nonchalant tone. "Please tell me at once. Is something wrong with Clara?"

"Not yet. But she shows signs, angel. That's why I called."

"Al, she's ill—she's been in an accident—oh please, tell me the truth. All of it. Mother is frantic."

"Calm yourself, little one. What that blond sister of yours has been doing is no accident; it's just a whale of a lot of mischief. The big town is too big for her. She's trying to swallow it and such can't be done. Her stay with Metropole ends tomorrow. We made all arrangements to send her home but she says she's not going. She demands the price of her fare and expenses instead."

"Al! You're not giving it to her!"

"Fat chance. We're not paying girls to go ga-ga in the big city. She got pretty noisy about it, but a ticket home is all she's getting. She says she's staying anyhow."

"Ridiculous. How can she stay? She has no money."

"Maybe not, but she sure has a system. She says she has a job in a night club. She's pulling that Beauty Queen stuff all over the lot. If her family can't persuade her Millville is a garden spot for gals like her, one of you had better run over here and snap on the handcuffs."

"You're sure she wasn't just being difficult. You're sure she means to stay?"

"If I was as sure you miss me as I am that Blondie means business, I'd be the happiest man in heaven."

"I do miss you, silly. Al, I do appreciate you calling. I don't know what we can do about Clara. I'll have to talk with Mother and Dad. I'll let you know as soon as we decide. Tonight or tomorrow at the latest."

"Tomorrow will do. That'll give you time to get the old think cap on straight. Count on me for anything you want done. I'd have grabbed her wrists and dragged her to you only the law wouldn't like it. She's free, white and twenty-four, you know. How's Bill?"

"Better than ever. He has a fresh crop of freckles sprouting in between the regular ones."

"Don't raise a temperature now, H. B. I'll keep Clara in hand—or else—until we run her into the corral. I guess I'd better sign off. Hearing your voice puts me on the verge of a breakdown."

"Good-bye, Al. And thanks again for taking care of Clara."

Mrs. Marsh was waiting and rocking, fear twisting her bloodless lips.

"Mums," Marilyn rushed to her mother, lifted the stricken woman's trembling chin. "It's all right. You misunderstood. Clara just wants me to come to New York, to join her there. She asked Al to call me—she was busy, on her tour, you know. Look at you, all this worry for nothing—"

"But the young man said we should get Clara home, or come to New York and take her in charge. I'm sure that's what he said."

Marilyn forced a laugh, even put a semblance of mirth into it. She said:

"Oh, Al—he's always talking double. He thinks it's funny. Half the time I don't know what he's saying. Mother, I'd like to go to New York."

Mrs. Marsh was limp with relief.

"It would be nice for you," she said. "You could meet Clare. The two of you could go sight-seeing together, be chummy like sisters ought to be. It would cost a lot of money though—of course you have your own money—if you think you want to spend it on a nice vacation I'd feel easier about Clara if I knew you were with her."

PURSE SNATCHER

Just Joke on Girl Friend, Youth Explains.

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — A taxi driver saw a youth snatch a girl's purse and started things moving with a "Stop thief!"

One pursuer was felled in the ensuing excitement, which a shop owner's pointed shotgun ended.

To police, the "thief" explained: "It was my girl friend's purse. We were having a good time and I didn't want her to go home."

FEW DISMISSED IN WPA PURGE

Only 429 Refuse to Sign American Pledge Out of 1,650,000.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The works projects administration has reported that its purge of aliens, Communists and Bund members had resulted in dismissal of 429 persons.

In compliance with a congressional act, all WPA employes have been required since last July 1 to sign an affidavit that they are not Communists, members of a Nazi Bund, aliens, or affiliated with organizations advocating the overthrow of the government.

"The fact that only 429 out of more than 1,650,000 failed to sign such affidavits confirms our belief that only a minute percentage of WPA workers was affected by these provisions," Commissioner F. C. Harrington said in a statement. "Wherever there is evidence that a false affidavit has been presented, we will submit that evidence to the proper authorities for prosecution."

Louisiana and New York each reported 49 dismissals, the largest number in a single state. Forty-six of the New York dismissals were in New York City.

No dismissals were reported from Rhode Island, Delaware, Maryland, South Carolina, Kansas, Montana and Utah. Mississippi and Hawaii also reported no dismissals as yet, but final reports have not been received from them.

UNDERHILL-SCHUFF WEDDING SOLEMNIZED

Friends And Relatives of Couple Gather For Ceremony At St. Paul's Lutheran Church Yesterday Afternoon.

AT 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon Miss Marie Ellen Underhill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Underhill of Lucas, and Joseph Schuff, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Schuff, Pulver-List road, were married before the altar of St. Paul's Lutheran church.

Mrs. Gertrude McMichael of Lucas played the nuptial music, and her selections included "Contemplation" by Mallard; "Awakening" by Engelmann; MacDowell's "To a Wild Rose," "I Love You Truly" by Bond, the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin by Wagner, and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March." During the service, which was performed by Rev. Herman L. Gilbert, Mrs. McMichael played "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" Stults. The church altar was decorated with palms, ferns and gladioli for the occasion.

Wears Formal Gown.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor length gown of white sheer crepe, fashioned with a shirred front panel, V-neck and bishop sleeves. Her finger-tip veil was held in place with a coronation cap trimmed in seed pearls. Her only jewelry was a cameo locket, a gift from the bridegroom, and she carried a shower bouquet of white sweetpeas and roses.

Miss Helen Tolles was the maid-of-honor, and she wore a powder blue dress, which was made like the bride's except that it had short puffed sleeves. Her bouquet was of pink delphinium and sweetpeas. The bride's niece, Miss Doris Jean Underhill of Lucas, was the junior bridesmaid, and her gown was of yellow sheer crepe with short puffed sleeves and the bodice was trimmed with yellow ribbon bows. She carried blue delphinium and sweetpeas.

Mr. Schuff chose his brother, William Schuff, jr., to be his best man Glen Swigert, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Lloyd Underhill, of Crestline, brother of the bride, served as the ushers.

Mrs. Underhill appeared at her daughter's wedding wearing a blue and white dotted navy blue sheer dress with white accessories and a shoulder corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Schuff's dress was of blue and white printed silk, and with it she also wore white accessories and a gardenia corsage.

Reception At New Home.

A buffet luncheon was served to 30 guests immediately following the ceremony in the newly furnished home of the bridal couple on the Pulver-List road. Later Mr. and Mrs. Schuff left for a short wedding trip. The bride's traveling costume was a black and white sheer printed dress with redingote and black asseccories.

Mrs. Schuff is a graduate of Madison high school and the Mansfield Business Training school. She now does secretarial work in the Agriculture Adjustment Administration office in this city. Mr. Schuff, a graduate of Madison high school too, is employed at the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company

Out-of-town guests in attendance at the wedding included: Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Scoles, Mr. and Mrs. Denzil Edgar and family, Mrs. Carrol Cruthers, Mrs. B. B. Edgar, all of Mt. Vernon; Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Agnew, Crestline; Mr. and Mrs Guy Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Klauer, Mrs. Eva Cutnaw and son, Dale, Mrs. Faye Walker, all of Bellville; John Agnew, Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. John Cummings, Ashland.

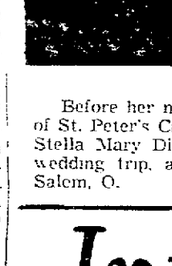
Informally Speaking...

Aug. 5, 1940.

Lucy, dear:

I'VE BEEN looking for a letter from you without much success lately. You see, with all the vacation talk that's going around here, I thought perhaps you'd be taking yours soon, so I want you to know that I'll be looking for you to come over for a visit.

* * * * *



Marianne

And speaking of vacations, Mr. and Mrs. James Brownscombe and their daughter left yesterday for Muncie, Ind., where Mr. Brownscombe will attend the reunion of the medical detachment of the 152nd Infantry. . . . He was a sergeant in that division during the World war. . . . Although he's gone in a different direction, Philip J. Kipp is also vacationing now—he's in Canada fishing.

* * * * *

Had you been in town the latter part of last week, you might have had the pleasure of talking with a former resident who hasn't been here for a visit for some time. . . . He was Russell Bailey, whose home is in Wilmington, Del. now. . . . He stopped off here to see his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Bailey, and his brother, Harvey, while en route to Clinton, Ia. on business. . . . He left Sunday and will go to Buffalo, N. Y. and Lake Placid before returning home. . . . The James Baileys went up to Cleveland yesterday morning and boarded a boat for a week's vacation on the Great Lakes—which will take them as far as Duluth, Minn. and Mackinaw.

* * * * *

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bowie are just more than vacationing this summer, Lucy. . . . They returned only recently from Lakeview, and now they've gone up to Houghton lake in Michigan. . . . In case you're traveling around up in those parts, you might stop to see them, as they've invited all their friends to call. . . . Dr. and Mrs. Walter L. Merz are touring the west on their vacation this summer. . . . They plan to be gone for several weeks, and they'll visit with relatives in Colorado before coming back to town. . . . Dr. Merz is the assistant City-County Health Commissioner, you know.

* * * * *

UNHAPPILY enough vacations always seem much too short, and I'll wager lots of Mansfieldites are finding that to be the case just now. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Beckley have returned from a week's stay at Ceylon Junction. . . . Clayson D. Bell of the Bell Music company was in Chicago ill last week attending the National Music Dealers convention.

* * * * *

Did you know that a couple of Mansfield girls are wearing fraternity pins these days, Lucy? Vera Jo Robertson has Robert Selby's pin, and Bud McIntosh (a former resident, who now lives in Cleveland) has given his pin to Gerry Locke.

* * * * *

OH YES, I mustn't forget to tell you about the trip Mrs. Donna Schuler and her daughter Jean are taking. They left yesterday for Washington D. C. and New York City. . . . They will be accompanied on the sojourn by Mrs. Jerry McCrean of New Brighton, Pa. and on their way back will visit with friends in Pittsburgh, Pa., Beaver Falls, Pa. and New Brighton. And I just had a card from Florence MacDonald in Atlantic City, N. J., where she is stopping at the Hotel Traymore.

* * * * *

That seems to wind up the news for today, Lucy, so do write soon and let me know your vacation plans.

Lovingly,

Marianne

Mary E. Stuff, John McFarland Wedded In West

The former Miss Mary Eileen Stuff, who has returned to Mansfield with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Stuff, 11 Swanger avenue, following a tour of the west, is busy these days telling her friends of her marriage to John W. McFarland of Long Beach, Cal., on July 26.

The quiet and informal wedding was solemnized at the Wee Kirk o' the Heather church in Glendale, Cal., by Rev. F. W. Heinecken. Only members of the immediate families and close friends of the couple attended the ceremony, which was read before an altar banked with palms and garden flowers.

The bride chose a sheer black alpaca dress with black accessories for her wedding, and she had a shoulder corsage of gardenias and bouvardia. Mrs Harold McFarland was her only attendant, and she wore a wine redingote ensemble with matching accessories. Her corsage was of gladioli. Lloyd McFarland served as his brother's best man.

Mrs. McFarland is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school and Ashland college She attended Miami and Ohio State universities and is a member of Pi Alpha Gamma sorority. She has been a teacher in the Richland county schools for the past four years.

Mr. McFarland, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McFarland of Long Beach, is a partner with the Couch and McFarland cabinet shop of that city. Late July Marriage Revealed To Friends

Announcement was made today of the marriage, July 27, of Miss Betty Welch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Welch of Lexington, and George Loughman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Loughman, 112 Ford street. The ceremony was performed in Russell, Ky., with the bride wearing a black and white ensemble and a shoulder corsage of red roses.

Mrs. Loughman is a graduate of Lexington high school, and Mr. Loughman is employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. They will reside at 348 Fair street.

Twelve close friends of the bride learned of her marriage at a party given by her aunt, Mrs. Lucy Morris, at her home in Lexington. Card games were the evening's diversion, with prizes going to Miss Bernice Smith and Miss Rosalee Moats. Scrolls in the place favors revealed the recent nuptials.

REV. GILBERT READS NUPTIALS IN GARDEN

WITH four trees forming a natural bower as a background for her wedding yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock, Miss Bertha Barbara Sauder became the bride of Ferol Ray Miller in the garden at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron A. Sauder, 566 Harter avenue. Two baskets of pastel shaded gladioli were used to add color to the scene.

The bride wore a street-length gown of dusky rose lace with a white turban and shoulder-length veil. The rest of her accessories were also white. She wore white lace gloves and carried a bouquet of gardenias and larkspur.

Miss Martha M. Sauder was her sister's only attendant. She was attired in a powder blue silk jersey dress with white accessories and her bouquet was of pink rosebuds, blue delphinium and gypsophila.

Rev. Gilbert Officiates.

Mr. Miller, who is the son of Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, 77 Marion avenue, chose his bride's uncle, Ora O. Sauder, to be his best man. Preceding the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. H. L. Gilbert, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, Malcolm Boone played the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin. Mrs. Sauder wore a navy blue ensemble for her daughter's wedding and carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds Mrs. Miller was attired in white, and her corsage was also of pink rosebuds.

A wedding breakfast was served to 45 guests immediately after the ceremony, and a long buffet table was decorated with sweetpeas and a three-tiered wedding cake.

Later in the day, Mr. and Mrs. Miller left for a trip through Michigan. For traveling the bride topped her wedding dress with a navy blue taffeta jacket and wore a navy picture hat and matching accessories. Upon returning to the city, the couple will reside with the groom's mother.

The bride, who is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school, is employed at the S. S. Kresge company. Mr. Miller attended the public schools in Elwood, Ind. and is now an employe of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

"I Enjoy More Relief Than In Years and Thank Vendol"

Lexington Resident Was Bothered Daily with Gas in Stomach, "Heartburn", Acid Risings, Pains, and Cramps. Due to Constipation. Says Nothing Ever Helped Like Vendol.

MRS. MINNIE WONDLE

"For the past 6 or 7 years I have been a real sufferer from gas in stomach, and have had a terrible pressure on my chest. I had tried so many things, but nothing Vendol was to be quite so successful in relieving me. I began taking it, and now I enjoy more relief than I had known in years." Mrs. Minnie Wondle well known resident of Lexington, Ohio, route 1, Mansfield.

"I really believe my trouble came from a combination of the bad breath, coated tongue, nervousness I suffered, my food, it disagreed with me, causing sour stomach, gas, heartburn, acid risings in my throat, and shortness of breath. I'd usually feel like a ton weight was on me, and there was a bad taste in my mouth most all the time.

"It was really surprising, the promptness with which Vendol started upon my bowels and relieved the constipation. It just seemed to clean me out thoroughly, although the action was pleasant, and now I am entirely relieved of the gassy, sour condition in my stomach.

"My tongue has lost that white coating and I get up every morning feeling rested and refreshed, from a good night's rest. This is something I had not enjoyed for a long time.

"You can put me down as a strong friend to Vendol and I have already advised a number of people to try it."

If Vendol helped this person living right near here, it will do the same for you so why not begin taking this double-acting compound made from Senna, Dandelion, Queen's Root, May Apple, Anis Seed and 7 other roots and herbs combined with valuable alkalines. Come to Central Drug Store, corner Main and Fourth streets. Learn how Vendol will help you also. All drug stores sell Vendol.
